TWO HELD FOR KILLING WOMAN

BROOKLINE CHOIR GIRL FOUND BY FATHER

Was Wandering About Mechanics' Building in Dazed Condition

Eighteen-year-old Gladys C. Nason of Brookline, who disappeared from her home Tuesday night, was found wandering about in the vicinity of Mechanics Building in a dazed condition early today.

The girl is now in bed and is seriously ill. Her mother stated that she has not pressed her for an explanation of her strange disappearance in the middle of the night, but that the family physician thinks she is the victim of temporary mental trouble which was one of the after effects of a severe attack of influenza.

Shortly after midnight Miss Nason's father, a well-to-do Brookline contractor, received a telephone call from her. She spoke rather incoherently, but said she was in front of Mechanics Building, and could not find her way home.

Mr. Nason immediately went to the neighborhood, and found his daughter standing helplessly in front of the building, as she had described.

The Nasons believe the girl was wandering about Mechanics Building all day yesterday, as they received several telephone calls from persons who had seen her picture in the papers, and believed they had seen the girl herself in the vicinity.

Miss Nason is a stenographer, a choir singer and socially popular in Brookline.

TOWERS SAYS OUTLOOK FOR START TODAY POOR

Washington, May 15. — Weather conditions are far from favorable for a hop off of the navy seaplanes from Trepassey today, according to a dispatch to the Navy Department from Commander J. H. Towers. There are variable fresh winds, he reported, with clouds, rain squalls and poor visibility. Unofficially, it was stated by Navy Department officials that if there was a marked improvement in the weather conditions it was possible that the planes might start for the Azores late today.

BANDITS ROB BANK OF $15,000 AT DOLTON, ILL.

Dolton, Ill., May 15.—Three masked bandits with drawn revolvers today robbed the First National Bank here of between $15,000 and $20,000. The robbers drove the cashier and his woman assistant into the vault, looted the cash drawers, and escaped in an automobile.

POLICEMAN KILLED AS RAIDERS SEIZE PRISONER

By Universal Service.

Cork, Ireland, May 15.—One policeman is dead, one dying and another wounded as a result of an attack on a train at Knocklong by armed raiders, who rescued John Hogan, a prisoner, from the policemen taking him to prison.

Negro Lynched, Shot and Burned in Mississippi

Vicksburg, Miss., May 15.—After battering down the doors of the county jail with heavy steel bars, a mob of about 1,000 persons early today lynched Lloyd Claiy, twenty-three, colored, accused of attacking Mattie Hudson, seventeen years old, white girl.

While the negro's body swung from a limb of a tree, members of the mob fired a volley of shots —cutting the rope and dropping the body into a fire beneath the tree. Two persons in the mob suffered minor injuries when struck by stray bullets.

The negro's body was burned to a crisp.

CHIEF YEOMAN, F, CHARGED WITH STEALING

Editor of Navy Yard Paper Accused of Theft by Co-worker

Miss Annabelle E. E. Jonas, twenty-eight, a chief yeoman (F) at the Charlestown Navy Yard, was arrested today charged with stealing merchandise worth $177.69 from a department store. She was arraigned and her case continued for hearing.

Miss Jonas was arrested at her home, No. 10 Museum road, by Inspectors Haggerty and Dorsey. Following her detention on the larceny complaint, naval authorities began an investigation of her accounts at the yard, where she edited a paper as well as acted as chief yeoman.

Miss Jonas came here from Washington a few months ago, the police say. Recently she borrowed the identification coin establishing the credit of Miss Mary Hogan, another yeoman, in the department store.

According to Miss Hogan, who lives in West Roxbury, Miss Jonas wanted to buy a shirtwaist, but she actually bought laces, hats, gloves and other wearing apparel to the value of $177.69. Then she disappeared.

AUTO PLUNGES OVER BRIDGE, KILLING ONE

New Haven, May 15.—One was killed and two seriously injured when an automobile containing four students of the Rosenbaum Tutoring School of Milford, Ct., plunged through the railing of the Memorial Bridge near Milford. Cullen W. Browne of Detroit, Mich., died here last night at the hospital. Donald Lanergan, who was injured, is improving.

The car was owned by Phelps Montgomery, a lawyer, of this city. Arnold Newlander was driving and had with him Nathan Hunter and the two other young men. The car skidded over the bridge. Hunter was uninjured.

TWO-ALARM FIRE ON WASHINGTON STREET

Flames leaping from the roof of the five-story building, No. 299 Washington street, near the corner of School street, drew the attention of citizens to a threatening fire on the top floor of that building, occupied by several small tailoring concerns. Because of the dangerous location, Chief McDonough ordered a second alarm. The firemen confined the flames to the top floor and kept them from spreading to adjoining buildings.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS, MAN OF 84 DIES LATER

John Dougherty, eighty-four, was found unconscious at the foot of a flight of stairs in his home, No. 31 East Dedham street, today, and died shortly afterward at Boston City Hospital. Medical Inspector Leary is investigating.

MOTHER, 4 CHILDREN, LOST ON BARGE

Coal-Laden Vessel Goes Down in Gale Off Isle of Shoals and Six Drown

Portsmouth, May 15—A mother and her four children and an engineer were drowned when the barge Nanticoke from Perth Amboy, N. J., filled and sank in five minutes in a northeast gale six miles off the Isles of Shoals early today.

THE DEAD.

Mrs. William Gray of Perth Amboy, N. J., wife of Captain Gray of the Nanticoke.

Four children of Captain and Mrs. Gray, ranging in ages from five months up to eight years.

Engineer (name unknown) of the Nanticoke.

The barge sank while Captain Gray was making frantic efforts to fight his way to the family sleeping quarters under the pilot house. He was driven back by the rising water.

Allan McDougall of Perth Amboy, a deckhand, had launched a small boat. When the barge sank Captain Gray managed to get to the small boat. He and McDougall drifted until 6 o'clock, when their boat was sighted a mile off-shore by the crew of the Rye Beach Life Saving Station.

NEARLY INSANE OVER LOSS.

The life-savers put out in a lifeboat and brought the two survivors to the station. Captain Gray was nearly insane with grief over the loss of his family.

The Nanticoke was the stern-most of three barges, laden heavily with coal and in tow of the tug Triton, bound from Perth Amboy to Portland and Rockland, Me.

The gale kicked up a rough sea. At 1 o'clock in the morning, while Captain Gray and McDougall were on deck, the captain noticed that the Nanticoke was sinking rapidly by the stern.

Yelling to McDougall to get the small boat over, the captain dived for the pilot house and the sleeping quarters underneath, where his family and the engineer were asleep.

CAUGHT IN WATER TRAP.

Before he could get to his family the stern of the barge was submerged. The heavily laden craft was about to go down. The mother, children and the engineer were caught in the fatal water trap.

The barge, with its six victims, sank so quickly that the small boat, with the captain and McDougall, was nearly carried down in the suction.

When the barge went down the cable-bitts were torn out by the roots and the pilot house was swept away.

THREE TRANSPORTS CLEAR WITH 7,424 U. S. TROOPS

Washington, May 15.—Three troopships carrying 7,424 home-coming Yanks, have cleared from St. Nazaire for home ports the War Department announced today. They are: The Virginian with 3,956, due at Newport News May 25; the Santa Teresa, with 870, due at New York May 24, and the Tiger, with 2,598, due at New York May 26.

BOLSHEVIKI MOBILIZING ALL AVAILABLE MEN

Copenhagen, May 15.—The Russian soviet government has issued a decree ordering the greatest possible speed in mobilizing every available man.

A dispatch from Helsingfors Tuesday stated the Bolsheviki were planning an offensive on all fronts.

Six D. H. Planes on Way to Boston From Texas

By International News Service.

Dallas, Tex., May 15.—Six deHaviland planes, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Claggett, with Major Roy Brown as navigator, left here today for Boston on a recruiting trip. The planes are flying in bombing formation.

The first stop will be at Oklahoma City and later a flying circus of three days will be staged at Kansas City. Other points to be visited are Wichita, Fort Riley, Indianapolis and Mineola, L. I.

PLANT FACTORY SHOE WORKERS ON STRIKE

About 500 employes of the Thomas G. Plant Shoe Company, Roxbury, were out on strike today, according to statements of workers who had quit their benches, and it was said a strike of the entire 4,000 men and women employed would take place unless a fellow-workman was reinstated and the union recognized. About 100 pickets, all men, were on duty outside the plant.

The discharged workman is John A. Brown, a member of the Allied Shoe Workers' Union, employed at the plant for eleven years until ten days ago. Strikers declare that Brown was discharged because of union activities.

Charles M. Lawrence, company manager, admited today that a number of workmen had quit, but said the strikers didn't total more than fifty.

DISCHARGE STARTS TROUBLE.

The trouble began with the discharge of Brown. Fellow employes declare that prior to his discharge, officials began to pick flaws in his work, although he was one of the most skillful employes in the plant. His discharge was taken up by the executive board of the union, which delegated Frank Franzosa, its business agent, to take the matter up with the manufacturers. According to Franzosa, he went to the company office, was told that no officials were in, and finally delivered an ultimatum to office employes that if Brown were not reinstated within six hours other workers would strike.

In a letter sent to all striking employes today, William J. McGaffee, president of the company, denied that any representative of the union had waited upon officials in connection with Brown's case, and asked that the strikers meet him to hear "a correct statement" of the facts. The strikers elected a committee of six to confer with the management later. This committee includes Brown, the discharged employe; Edward Frick, Anthony Sacco, Harry Berry, Daniel Mahoney and William Main.

MEETING OF STRIKERS.

Brown is in the heel shaving department. Those on strike include workers from the following departments: Heel scourers, edge trimmers, press scourers, press shavers, Goodyear stitchers, nailers, trim lasters, turn workmen, edge setters, bottom finishers, stock fitters and rough rounders.

The lasters, who belong to the United Shoe Workers' Union, expected orders from their local to join the strike.

STRIKE THREATENED BY BROCKTON HIGH BAND

Brockton, May 15.—The Brockton High School orchestra, about forty in number, delivered an ultimatum to Headmaster Merle S. Getchell they would strike unless the school authorities agreed to give all the members of the orchestra, who had been playing two years, class numerals besides the one-half point awarded to each for playing at different socials.

CZECHS PLAN INVASION IF GERMANS REFUSE TO SIGN

Berlin, May 15. — The Czecho-Slovaks plan to invade Bavaria if Germany refuses to sign the peace treaty it was reported here today. Czecho-Slovak troops are already being concentrated at Taus, it is learned.

BLOCKADE PROTEST BY WOMEN

Delegates at Zurich Congress Declare Entente Policy Is Breeding Bolshevism

Exclusive Cable to the International News Service from the Petit Journal, Paris.

Zurich, May 15.—A protest against the blockade of the central empires was moved at the International Congress of Women which is in session here today.

Frau Glucklich of Hungary declared that the blockade was responsible for Bolshevism in her country.

Thirty-two American delegates are present, including Jane Addams of Chicago, Ida Tarbell and Jeannette Rankin, the former woman member of the American Congress. England is represented by twenty-three delegates, including Mrs. Philip Snowden and Mrs. Despard. Only one woman represents France. There are three representatives from Ireland, twenty-seven from Germany and four from Austria-Hungary.

In moving the resolution opposing the blockade, some of the delegates declared it was bringing starvation to women and children. Frau Heyman of Germany said that German women protested against the invasion of Belgium and the inhuman deportations of civilians from Belgium and Northern France.

According to Frau Heyman, German women were not in favor of German Proposal for Labor Conference Is Rejected by Allies

By International News Service.

Paris, May 15.—The German proposal for an international labor conference at Versailles has been turned down by the allies, according to the text of notes made public here today.

The allies take the stand that the labor problems referred to by the Germans can be cared for under the provisions of the League of Nations.

The letter regarding international labor forwarded to Premier Clemenceau by Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau was taken up with details of proposed legislation, the most of which were incorporated in the international labor charter issued by the syndicalist conference in Berne last February.

SERVICES OVER BODY OF EDITH CAVELL

By International News Service.

London, May 15.—Signal honors were paid today to the memory of Edith Cavell, the heroic English nurse, who was shot to death by the Germans in Belgium in October, 1915, for assisting British prisoners to escape.

Following the arrival of the body here services were held at Westminster Abbey, after which the remains were taken to the quiet little English town of Norwich for final interment.

Military honors were accorded the remains upon their arrival in London. The whole nation was in mourning while the impressive ceremonies were taking place. The coffin was draped with the Union Jack.

'Nancy' Resumes Her Trip to Trepassey

Today's developments in the great trans-Atlantic air race were as follows:

1—The American seaplane NC-4 hopped off at 10:05 a. m. (9:05 New York time) from Halifax, N. S., for Trepassey, Newfoundland, to join the NC-1 and NC-3, her sister planes, which are waiting favorable weather for their flight to the Azores on the second leg of the race to Europe. The NC-4 alighted off the eastern coast of Nova Scotia, 30 miles from Halifax, at 10:40, but resumed her flight to Newfoundland at 12:47. Slight engine trouble, repaired on the water, is believed to have caused the delay.

2—The American dirigible C-5, which joined the race yesterday, arrived safely this morning at St. John's, Newfoundland. She landed at the Quidi Vidi field at 10:40 a. m. (9:40 a. m. New York time.)

3—Reports from Trepassey, Newfoundland, were to the effect that the American seaplanes would not jump off before Friday evening. Aviation men believe today that the NC-1 and NC-3 will wait for the NC-4 to be overhauled and her crew rested before the three planes jump off together for the Azores.

4—A dispatch from St. John's said that neither Hawker's Sopwith nor Raynham's Martinsyde would attempt to start across the Atlantic today, because of unfavorable weather conditions.

EVERETT MILL OPENS MONDAY IN LAWRENCE

Lawrence, May 15.—The Everett mill, employing 2,000, will reopen its plant next Monday morning on a 48-hour-week basis, with no increase in wages, according to an announcement made by Agent James L. Milliken at noon today.

The Everett plant is a cotton mill, the only local factory to close on account of the strike. Its closing was a matter of policy on the part of the owners to avoid troubles arising out of disorganized service and picketing. This mill has been closely watched by all concerned, as a sort of barometer of local conditions. The feeling has generally prevailed that reopening would mean that the owners were practically convinced of the strike being broken.

Repeated rumors of reopening have been refuted from time to time.

The woolen mills have continued to operate during the strike. They are running at present on a basis of 48 hours' pay for a 48-hour week. According to Winthrop L. Marvin, secretary of the National Association of Woolen Manufacturers, no increase in pay is contemplated by the owners.

"I wish you would make that plain," said Mr. Marvin today. "There have been statements that the woolen manufacturers had decided to advance wages. There has been no advance, and at present there is no plan to grant any increase."

'Nancies' at Trepassey Wait for NC-4 and All Will Hop Off Friday

Trepassey, N. F., May 15.—Only a bare chance exists that the two American seaplanes NC-1 and NC-3 will jump off from here in the trans-Atlantic flight late this afternoon.

It is now generally believed the

SAYS CARRANZA STOLE $19,000,000 FROM BANK

New York, May 15.—That President Carranza of Mexico forcibly appropriated $19,000,000 of the funds of the Banco de Londres y Mexico for his personal use, is the charge made by William B. Mitchell in an action brought in the Supreme Court here.

Mr. Mitchell, who was formerly general manager of the Banco de Londres y Mexico, asks that the Bank of Montreal be enjoined from paying the Mexican government the money deposited there by the Banco de Londres.

INNOCENT, DECLARES SUSPECT

George Long Arrested With Mrs. Parker for Death of Mrs. Broadwell

Montpelier, Vt., May 15.—George Long, who, with Mrs. Belle Parker, was arrested today for the murder of Mrs. Harry E. Broadwell of Barre, declared later that he is innocent and that he would never be convicted.

Long, who, according to the police, admitted that he had served a sentence for forgery, said that he made a mistake in denying that Mrs. Broadwell was in the Parker house Saturday night, May 3, but that she left at midnight and he never saw her again.

"My conscience is free and clear," said Long, "and I am a happy man today because I know that no twelve men under God's Heaven will ever convict me of this crime.

"I admit that Mrs. Broadwell was in the house that night and that she ate meat. I admit that I bought the meat in the store across the street. I declare, however, that she left the house at midnight and was alive at that time. We wanted her to stay longer, but she said she had to be home before her husband. After she left the house I was not off the lawn.

MET HER THREE TIMES.

"I never made a plan to meet her. If it had not been for Mrs. Parker I'd never known her. The three times I met her it was because Mrs. Parker arranged it. My only mistake has been to deny that she was there that night. That was my mistake, and I made it because Mrs. Parker urged me to.

"My name is George A. Long. I was born in the Narrows, N. H., 39 years ago. At the age of seventeen I went to Houlton, Me., where I worked in the woods and a paper factory. Later I went to Woodstock, Canada, and did the same work. Then I went to Auburn, a part of Providence, Rhode Island, where I worked for the Providence Ice Company. I boarded with a family in Pine street, Providence, at this time. During the Winter I worked at Lakeport, cutting ice for the Providence Ice Company.

WORKED IN STERLING.

"Later I went to Sterling Junction, Mass., and worked in an icehouse just outside the Sterling Inn. After that I went to Bangor and worked in the paper mills. Later I went to Boston, stopping at different places including the St. James Hotel and the Revere House.

"After going to Rochester and Bethel, Vt., I came to Montpelier,

"BLIMP" AT NEWFOUNDLAND, SEAPLANES GO FRIDAY

seaplanes will attempt a start Friday evening.

Commander John H. Towers is awaiting the arrival of the NC-4, which flew from Chatham, Mass., yesterday. If the NC-4 arrives early and her crew is fit and the weather favorable, a start will be made before sunset. But the aviation men here believe the NC-4 will have to be overhauled and her men rested before they attempt the long flight to te Azores.

Commander Towers and the crews of both the NC-1 and NC-3 are eager to get away, but generous enough to desire that their comrades on the NC-4 shall share the honor.

The wind today was not altogether satisfactory and a remnant of last night's fog was still clinging to the outer coast.

That the American planes will experience little difficulty in navigation during the long flight was confidently predicted today.

Special instruments, designed to enable airplanes to maintain a true course, are a part of the seaplanes' equipment and little time will be lost in shifting from an off-course to true position should fog or other elements cause such deviation from course.

There is unconcealed elation among the flyers that the fluctuating gales in mid-ocean have made it more difficult for the land planes at St. John's to get away than for the seaplanes.

The naval airmen are certain that the Britons navigating with sextant and compass will never make a successful flight in land planes.

The popularity of the American visitors is increasing to such an extent that the leading paper of St. John's, where the Britons are waiting for the start, says:

"The Americans have made great friends of Newfoundlanders and Newfoundlanders will be glad to see them accomplish the greatest feat in aviation ever witnessed by the world."

Dirigible C-5 Reaches Newfoundland, Ready for Trans-Atlantic Trip

St. John's, N. F., May 15.—The American dirigible C-5 reached Newfoundland at 4.15 this morning and moved toward the field reserved for it at Quidi Vidi near here. She landed at 10.40 a. m. (9.40 New York time.

The "blimp" was first sighted this morning as she passed over the island of St. Pirre, fifteen miles south of the Newfoundland coast. She was proceeding at about sixty miles an hour and fifteen minutes later passed over the mainland.

The United States cruiser Chicago landed 100 men at daylight to assist in mooring the balloon and keeping the crowds away from the selected landing place. From all the ships in the harbor boats put out before dawn and parties came ashore to greet the "blimp." The town notables and a big part of the crowd that had waited until sunset last night for the balloon were on the scene early today and the sailors had the greatest difficulty in keeping motor cars off the field.

The dirigible encountered almost perfect weather on the entire trip from Montauk Point, L. I. She started with a moderate southerly wind that pushed her along, and she passed off the coast of Nova Scotia yesterday afternoon. A 30-mile an hour breeze sent the balloon along at a 70-mile clip.

As darkness settled over the water, the wind died down. The "blimp" sailed along at a low altitude, progressing at some times less than 60 miles an hour in an almost dead calm. There was scarcely any breeze blowing when she reached Newfoundland today.

MEAN SPEED FORTY KNOTS.

The balloon reduced her speed to such an extent during the night that she required twenty-five hours and forty minutes to make the 1,065-mile flight from Montauk Point, L. I. Her average speed was only about forty nautical miles an hour. A light rain began falling shortly after the "blimp" reached the shore of Newfoundland at 4:15 a. m. A fog began mantling the country and contrary winds set in. The dirigible poked her way through the mists and climbed higher.

At 9:40, local time, the C-5 was sighted passing Whitbourne, fifty miles from St. John's. She was barely visible because of the fog. The cruiser Chicago got in touch with the "blimp" at about this time. It was at first feared that the dirigible, wandering about above the fog bank, might not be able to find her landing place, but wireless messages from the Chicago helped guide her to the mooring spot.

How long the dirigible will remain here is not known, although it is generally believed she will now attempt the Atlantic flight. Whether she will start immediately will depend upon reports on the condition of her engines after the flight from Long Island. Going at her best speed the "blimp" would require two days to cross the ocean, and it is improbable that the navy will take any chances with her.

American Airmen Have Advantage Over British Through New Inventions

Trepassey, N. F., May 15.—America's airmen believe the greatest advantage the NC planes possess over their rivals in the Atlantic flight is their ability to detect and correct any drift from the course.

Experience during the cruise from Rockaway to Trepassey showed Commanders Towers and Bellinger that in ten minutes an unsuspected deviation of five degrees in the course had been discovered by means of the special instruments and the planes steered back to the line.

If wind should force the Sopwith or Martinsyde planes five degrees off the course in a Newfoundland fog they would not be able to strike Europe, much less Ireland or England, in their flight, unless the drift was corrected at once and neither of the British planes carries the delicate instruments essential for such work, their navigating apparatus being confined to a sextant and a compass for each machine.

Aerial Mail Service Between Cleveland and Chicago Is Inaugurated

Cleveland, O., May 15.—Daily aerial mail service was inaugurated between Cleveland and Chicago today. Carrying a large sack of first-class mail and greetings from Postmaster Murphy of Cleveland to the postmaster of Chicago, the big mail plane, piloted by Eddie Gardner, former army aviator, took the air at the Woodland Hill Feld at 9:30 a. m. heading for Chicago. At Bryan, Max Miller is waiting to take up the flight in the event he is needed.

Chicago, May 15.—Pilot Trench Fry, an army aviator, left here at 9:32 o'clock today for Cleveland, inaugurating the Chicago end of the Chicago-Cleveland air mail service. The start from Chicago was without ceremony.

CHAMBER COMMITTEE AT RAILROAD CONFERENCE

A conference "in camera" was held today between Interstate Commerce Commissioner E. E. Clark and the Boston Chamber of Commerce's committee on governmental relations to commerce and transportation. The conference was held for the purpose of going into the entire railroad situation. Mr. Clark explained the problems which confront the government. The committee will report later.

TWO ARRESTED IN BROADWELL DEATH CASE

where I was arrested and convicted of forgery and sentenced to the House of Correction. Later I came to Barre, arriving last September. I have a sister, Mrs. Mabel Shelton Lovely, and the last I knew of her she was in Fall River, Mass., where she had worked in the mill."

The arrest of Long, charged with the murder of Mrs. Broadwell, is largely due to the story told by a young married woman who has separated from her husband. This woman told the detectives that Long took her to the Parker House, where he attempted to induce her to take up an illicit career. She rushed from the house, and as soon as she heard of the crime told her story.

The detectives were also assisted by I. B. Smith, an employe of the city of Barre. Smith informed them that on Saturday night, May 3, while sleeping in his boarding house on Summer street, he was awakened by the barking of dogs and the exhaust of an automobile. He said he rose and going to the window saw a machine coming out of the lot where the body was later found. On Sunday he told his story to the police and later to the detectives, describing the machine in great detail. Later he was shown an automobile, which he identified as the one he had seen.

It has also been definitely established that Long was the only man in the Parker house after 10 or 11 o'clock Saturday night.

Long and Mrs. Parker were brought to Montpelier by Detective Wood, Sheriff Tracy and Deputy Sheriff Lawson. Gabriel Bienchi, who was held as a material witness, was released under heavy bonds.

The prisoners were taken over the road and on the way Long met and recognized many acquaintances to whom he waved his hand nonchalantly. When the party arrived at the jail he was taken into the cell room while Mrs. Parker went upstairs and had a cup of tea with the sheriffs wife. She refused to meet the newspapermen, but Long was found, in his shirt sleeves, smoking a cob pipe, engaged in solitaire, and perfectly willing to tell the world his story.

The Montpelier jail is said to have been the first Golden Rule institution in the history of this country. For years the prisoners have been allowed to leave the walls and work outside on roads and farms. As a matter of fact it is not even called a correctional institution by Sheriff Tracy. On the wall of the corridor is a sign which reads:

"Guests of this hotel not doing manual labor outside must spend at least two hours a week in cleaning the house."

Of course, Long and Mrs. Parker, being charged with murder, will not be allowed any freedom. They will be arraigned tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in Barre.

The arrests were ordered by Attorney-General Archibald, following an entire night devoted to the reading of transcripts of evidence secured by the police and detectives.

It has been expected for several days that these arrests would be made and that the arrival of Attorney-General Archibald was the only hitch. The three have been under detention for some time, and it is said that they have been so closely tied up with the crime that the attorney-general had no hesitancy in issuing the warrants.

A startling similarity between the circumstances of the strangling of Mrs. Broadwell and an attack upon a Montpelier girl a little more than a year ago, is holding the attention of the investigators of the murder. It is believed that there may be a connection between the criminals in both cases.

In the Montpelier case a young girl was taken for a ride in a buggy outside the city limits. She was plied with liquor, assaulted and left to her fate, unclad, in the open team. That she survived the ordeal was considered remarkable.

Big Four Takes Up German Proposals and Austrian Terms

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, May 15.—The most bitter indignation is expressed here over the victory of the German and Austrian agents at the International Congress of Women at Geneva, where the treaty terms were characterized as a "violation of the principles of justice and a continuation of the rule of force."

The resolution denouncing the treaty was moved by Mrs. Philip Snowden, wife of the well-known English labor leader, and was seconded by Miss Jeanette Rankin, former woman member of the American Congress.

The peace terms, as they stand, according to the women delegates, "are entirely in the interests of the enemies of the central empires."

They declare the conditions are not worthy even of ordinary consideration.

The Big Four today resumed consideration of the latest German proposals and of the Austrian treaty. The German delegates are laboring on other notes to be addressed to the allies, but they stated today that all their counter proposals will be handed to the treaty framers before May 20, the date stipulated by Premier Clemenceau.

The Austrian delegates who arrived last night were to present their credentials tomorrow to the allied commission composed of Jules Cambon, Henry White and others.

It is understood that all the German counter proposals will be rejected. While the economic council has submitted plans to bring pressure on Germany and complete precautionary measures have been taken in the advent of adverse action, opinion is practically unanimous here that after completing their protests the Germans will accept the treaty and sign.

Creation of Diplomatic Branch Is Considered for League of Nations

(French Government Wireless.)

Paris, May 15.—The committee on organization of the League of Nations is considering the question of the creation of a special diplomatic branch which will enjoy the same privileges as the embassies with governments, such as the extra-territorial privileges, the use of the cipher and diplomatic couriers.

Though these pour parlers have not progressed far, it appears that the great powers will each keep two distinct diplomatic missions in Switzerland, one at Berne, with the Swiss Federal Council and the other at Geneva, seat of the League of Nations.

The Echo de Paris says that the two persons who are to represent France at the seat of the League of Nations have been selected and will soon be named. Neither is in the diplomatic service.

BRIGHTON LANDLORDS PLAN 36 PER CENT. INCREASE IN RENTS

COURSE OF OWNERS DEFENDED

Although some of the landlords of apartments on Commonwealth avenue and adjacent streets in Brighton have announced that they will increase rents this Summer and Fall 33 per cent. more than they were getting three years ago, a large number will make small increases that their total for three years will amount to but 10 per sent.

It is doubtful if any of the residents of this section will escape a raise this Summer or Fall. In most cases the raise will be $2.50 to $5 and the owners of the property say that it is absolutely necessary because of increased cost of coal, etc. The only hope of lower rentals they can see is the lower cost of coal, taxes, insurance, etc.

Landlords who, according to their own admissions, will increase rentals so that they will be getting at least 33 per cent. more than they did three years ago, also claim it is necessary for them to make this big increase in order to pay their bills and show a profit on their investments.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND.

"It's a question of supply and demand" is the way one real estate operator, who handles hundreds of apartments in the course of a year, bluntly put it to an American reporter. While the sun shines, and there is a dearth of surplus apartments, several of the big landlords hope to make hay.

An American reporter who visited the Commonwealth avenue apartment house district, was told by a woman who has lived in one of the most pretentious apartment houses on the avenue for seven years, how she and other tenants have been treated.

"They have not only gone up on our rent but they have curtailed many of the things that caused us to come here to live," she said.

"For instance, one of the things that caused dad to move here was the swimming tank which was in the building. Two years ago it was discontinued by the owners of the building who stated that it took too much coal to heat the water. Now they use it for storage of trunks.

"The cafe was another feature that caused us to decide to move here. That was discontinued 18 months ago and as far as we can learn will not be reopened. When we first came here they had a hall boy in livery. He is no more.

"They discontinued the maid service. Then they let us hire maids at 25 cents an hour. Now we pay 35 cents an hour. I asked one of the girls if they were paid any more and she said no. Once they had someone to run the elevator. Now we do it ourselves. And now we are informed that we can expect another raise in rent within a few weeks. We don't intend to remain here, and I have heard some of the other tenants say so, too."

SORRY TO RAISE RENTS.

B. J. Connolly of No. 93 Dale street, Roxbury, who owns buildings from No. 1343 to 1381 Commonwealth avenue, is one of the landlords who has consideration for his tenants. He told a Boston American reporterd that he is very sorry that he will have to make an increase of from $2.50 to $5 a suite on his thirty-seven apartments on the avenue this Fall. "I took the losses on additional cost of coal and taxes during the past year, but I will have to make a slight increase this Fall to help pay for this additional expense," he said.

"The great trouble in this matter of raising rents is that many of the builders and speculaotrs placed inflated values on their property in order to sell it," Mr. Connolley continued. "In order to sell property their leases would read, say, $100 a month for a suite. As a matter of fact, they would get only $75. A person would buy, supposing the suites were renting at $100, and then when they found out the difference they would have to charge $100 because of the price they paid for the property.

SEE LITTLE PROFIT.

"Another thing, many of the speculative builders would give five and six months free rent to tenants in order to fill their buildings for the purpose of selling. These things ought not to occur. I think that good prices have always been secured for apartments in Brookline. You can get the same apartments in Roxbury for $30 and $35 as are charged $60 to $65 for in Brookline. It is possible to get similar apartments in Dorchester $10 to $15 cheaper than in Brookline.

"You will find, however, that very little money has been made by the owners of apartment houses in Boston or Brookline during the past fifteen years. None have retired rich and very few well off.

"If the total increase of rent during the past three years has been $5 to $10 a month I would not regard the landlord as a profiteer."

Dorchester real estate dealers, too, have started an organized movement to raise rents, according to complaints made to Chairman Edward T. Kelly of the Board of Assessors. He was informed that these dealers were going to the landlords of the district urging them to get all the increases they can while they have the opportunity. Chairman Kelly asks the public to send him the names of all such persons.

University to Pay Tribute to Mrs. Phoebe Hearst

San Francisco, May 15.—Regents of the University of California at their regular monthly session have approved a motion presented by Regent John A. Britton to appoint a committee to draft resolutions of regret at the death of Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst.

President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, informally reporting to the Regents the death of Mrs. Hearst, said:

"It is with regret that I report to this board the death in Pleasanton, on April 13, 1919, of Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst, Regent of the University of California and loyal friend and benefactress of the university for years."

Members of the Board of Regents had previously passed tribute to the memory of Mrs. Hearst at memorial exercises in the Greek Theatre. Yesterday's regular monthly meeting of the board was the first formal session since the demise of Mrs. Hearst.

The resolutions as drafted will be presented to the board at its next regular meeting.

DROWN RESIGNS, BUT UNDER PROTEST

Registrar of Vital Statistics Charged With Irregularities in Payment of Clerks

Frank S. Drown, State registrar of vital statistics, who was charged with irregularities in the payment of salaries of girl clerks, today resigned under protest.

Drown employed girl clerks to prepare influenza statistics for the United States Public Health Service. Two of them claim they indorsed checks for pay at the rate of $4 a day, but Drown gave them only $2.50.

He said later that they were hired at that rate and that he paid the balance of the money to a supervisor whom he employed to take charge of the work. Secretary of State Langtry demanded his resignation on the ground that Drown's proceedings were "illegal and irregular." Mr. Drown today sent the following resignation under protest:

"In view of the criticism of your office which has been occasioned directly or indirectly from the methods I employed while acting as reporting epidemiologist for the United States Public Health Service in carrying on the work of compiling mortality statistics of the State in relation to the influenza epidemic, I hereby tender, as you request, my resignation of the office of State Registrar of Vital Statistics.

"Inasmuch, however, as I wholly disagree with you as to the scope of my authority in reference to the methods I employed in paying my clerks in carrying out this gratuitous service for the government, this resignation is made under protest."

POSTAL PROBE OF MYSTERIOUS DR. MATTHEWS

Promoter of 'National Touring Club' Maintains a Perplexing Silence as to His Past

Investigation of Dr. Abercrombie Sidney Matthews, national organizer of the League of American Patriots, Inc., by the United States postal authorities following the American's exposure of A. Clarence Dawson's claim to membership in the Lafayette Escadrille, today added to the mystery surrounding Dr. Matthews and his recently incorporated league for the suppression of Bolshevism.

It developed today that Dr. Matthews and A. Clarence Dawson, who is advertised as secretary of the "League of American Patriots, Inc." with a pretentious suite of offices in the Walker building at No. 120 Boylston street, are promoters of another organization called "The National Touring Club of America," whose object is declared to be the furnishing of road maps and touring information to members and the placarding of highways with luminous signs for the guidance of autoists travelling at night. Membership in the "Touring Club" cots $2.

Thousands of typewritten letters soliciting membership in the "League" and the "National Touring Club" have been mailed to Boston and New England men and women by Dr. Matthews and his office assistants. Copies of these letters and specimens of an elaborate literature prepared and circulated by the organization are now in the hands of postoffice inspectors and agents of the United States Department of Justice it was learned.

INVESTIGATIONS FAIL.

All attempts to probe the real identity of Dr. Matthews and all inquiries as to his former whereabouts have thus far met with slight success, according to officials working on the case.

Meanwhile Dr. Matthews maintains a perplexing silence concerning his past history, giving as his reason the fear that, should has enemies find out the whereabouts of his home, bodily harm might be inflicted upon his mother and daughter.

Dr. Matthews claims to be a descendant of Henry Clay, and says that he is a nephew of former United States Senator and afterwards Supreme Court Justice Stanley Matthews of Ohio.

"I was born in Paris, Kentucky, in the Blue Grass region, in the year 1866," Matthews told one of the officials who interviewed him. Inquiry in Paris, Ky., revealed the birth of no such individual, according to the head of a firm of private investigators who are working on the case at the request of the Old Colony Trust Company. Dr. Matthews claims to be a graduate in medicine of Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., and to have completed his education abroad at Heidelburg University in Germany.

SAYS HE ASKED NO FAVORS.

"I came to Boston plentifully supplied with money and have asked no favors from anyone," declared Dr. Matthews today. "I did not want credit for personal reasons, and have paid my bills as I went along. Why I should be subjected to the investigation of a lot of blackmailers I haven't the slightest idea. I am a very much misunderstood and persecuted man. The only way I can account for the indignities I have suffered is to attribute them to the machinations of the Bolsheviki whom I am giving my best efforts to drive from the country."

Dr. Matthews and A. Clarence Dawson, secretary of the dual organization, arrived in Boston early in March and proceeded to found the organizations of which they are the leading spirits.

On March 6 Dr. Matthews deposited $4,500 in the Old Colony Trust Company and gave as a reference "Captain John W. Goddard of Lenox, Mass." A letter of inquiry addressed to "Captain Goddard" at Lenox was forwarded to the Adams House in Boston, where a reply was written and the letter sent to Denver, Col., whence it was remailed to the Old Colony Trust Company, according to a representative of the bank.

On the same date, March 6, Dr. Matthews purchased a touring car, 1918 model, which was registered under the name of "Abercrombie S. Matthews, Hotel Thorndike, Boston." The registration number of Dr. Matthews' automobile is 92,926, according to the records of the Massachusetts Highway Commission.

Inquiry at the Hotel Thorndike, from which Dr. Matthews registered his car, brought forth a statement that Dr. Matthews was unknown at that hotel.

REGISTERED FROM PROVIDENCE.

Upon his arrival in Boston, Dr. Matthews registered at the Hotel Harvard, giving his address as "No. 1816 Orange street, Providence, R. I.," according to reliable sources. Investigation revealed the fact that Orange street in Providence is a short street whose numbers end short of the 500 mark.

Matthews and Dawson have been living in rooms rented from a Mrs. Guibord at No. 137 Peterboro street, Boston, in the Fenway. Repeated inquiries of Mrs. Guibord failed to reveal the slightest clew as to the identity of either of her roomers.

MISSING EVANGELIST NOW SOUGHT IN PROVIDENCE

Rev. Ernest M. Webber, Central Falls, R. I., missing evangelist; Mrs. Webber and their infant.

Pawtucket, May 15.—The search for the Rev. Ernest M. Webber, the missing Central Falls evangelist, is confined to Providence where he was last seen Friday, standing on Westminster street, about 5 p. m. Members of his congregation have left their work in an effort to solve the mystery which has puzzled police officials.

The Peoples Mission Church on Chapel street, Central Falls, is the meeting place nightly for searchers who report on the many clews which are run to earth with no solution.

"I know my husband would not keep his family in suspense and am afraid he is in bad hands," said Mrs. Webber.

The People's Mission Church, of which the Rev. Mr. Webber is pastor, is a non-denominational mission organized some 35 years ago by the Misses Mary and Lottie Fitts, philanthropic women who wanted to help residents of the west end of Central Falls, which is in the mill district.

Several evangelists have pastored the little flock, and Mr. Webber is credited with doing much good work among the working people. It is said that it was necessary for the pastor to work in machine shops in order to gain a livelihood, and he worked for some time at the Brown & Sharpe Manufacturing Company in Providence.

"During the recent epidemic my husband worked night and day ministering to the sick and I felt at the time he was over-doing his strength," said Mrs. Webber at her home today.

It is reported that Mrs. Fred Smith of Auburn and Mrs. George Anderson of this city passed the time of day with the pastor, who they say they met in Providence Friday afternoon.

RIOTERS TOO LATE WITH APPEAL

Judge De Courcy Dismisses Petition for Writ of Mandamus

Judge De Courcy of the Supreme Court today dismissed the petitions of John Bukaw, Charles Bukaw, Ernest Greenberg and Arnold Janitan for a mandamus to compel Judge Albert F. Hayden and Maurice J. O'Connell, clerk of the Roxbury Municipal Court, to so change the docket entry of that court as to make it appear that the petitioners took an appeal after sentence had been pronounced upon them for participating in a riot which occurred on May 1.

The Bukaws were each given a sentence of one month in the House of Correction, and Greenberg and Janitan two months each in the same institution.

The prisoners were on their way to Deer Island when their counsel claimed an appeal on their behalf. Counsel contended that as the court was still in session when he gave notice of an appeal the prisoners were entitled to have such an entry made. Judge De Courcy held that when the commitment papers were signed the Roxbury Court lost further jurisdiction of the case.

HONOR ROLL DRIVE GETS MANY MEMBERS

The drive of the Honor Roll workers to place a memorial in every ward in Boston with the names of all the men who went from the ward into any branch of the service, is meeting with great success. Already 3,000 women, wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts of the men and their friends are rallying to the drive. The committee needs 10,000 women. Each woman is asked to solicit a subscription from ten persons. All who wish to assist in any way may telephone or call at the headquarters, No. 208 Old South Building any day or evening.

SEEK SILK THEFT CLEW THROUGH "DOLLY GRAY"

With the arrest of Annie Sunshine, formerly "Dolly Gray" of of the chorus, the police hope to obtain a clew to the thieves who stole silk valued at $1,400 from the store of Mrs. Clara Weiner, No. 103 Arlington street, Chelsea. The former chorus girl, who is twenty-four, and married, living at No. 33 Marlborough street, Chelsea, was in Chelsea Court today charged with receiving stolen property valued at $18. She was placed on probation.

HELD CHELSEA MAN IN PROVIDENCE AUTO CASE

Providence, R. I., May 15.—A young man arrested while trying to sell an automobile tire here, when searched at police headquarters, had a bunch of keys in his stocking which the police declare were designed to unlock various types of automobiles. Letters in his coat were addressed to John T. Haley of No. 33 Highland street, Chelsea. The police are investigating his movements in Providence.

EXPRESS DRIVER ROUNDS UP TWO THIEVES HIMSELF

Convicted of stealing an express wagon and selling 475 pairs of shoes which were in it, Bartholomew J. Cronin and John J. Lydon of South Boston were sentenced to two years each in the House of Correction in Municipal Court today, appealed and were held in $2,000 bail each.

The complainant was James Phelan, a driver for Daley Brothers, expressmen, of Roxbury, who did his own detective work in rounding up the thieves. The proprietors of a Harrison avenue shoe store, charged with buying the stolen property, will be arraigned in Municipal Court tomorrow.

RUNS OVER BOY, THEN TAKES HIM TO HOSPITAL

Six-year-old William Fabina of No. 96 Sumner street, East Boston, is on the danger list at East Boston Relief Station, suffering from internal injuries received when he was knocked down by an automobile in front of his home today. The automobile is owned by Florence Ambrose of No. 294 Bremen street, East Boston, and was operated by Albert Memmelo, eighteen, of the same address. Memmelo stopped his machine and picking up the child rushed him to the hospital. The driver was taken later to East Boston police station, but was allowed to depart on his own recognizance.

DR. ANNA WELLINGTON WILL LECTURE TONIGHT

Dr. Anna C. Wellington of No. 137 Peterboro street, Boston, just returned from France, where she has been working with the French and American armies at the Receiving Stations for Wounded in Paris, will lecture before the New England Women's Medical Society and the Twentieth Century Medical Society, as their guest, at the offices of Dr. Helen I. Woodworth, No. 543 Boylston street, tonight at 8 p. m.

FEW CITY JOBS, BUT PLENTY ON FARMS

Government Reports Show New England in Better Situation Than Other Points

By International News Service.

Washington, May 15.—An increase of unemployed in industrial lines and a continued demand for farm labor are shown in telegraphic reports received by the United States Employment Service for the week ending May 10 and made public today.

There is an increase of 7,450 unemployed in 41 cities over the previous week. Reports furnished by 1,676 representative firms in 41 cities show that 12 cities, or 29.2 per cent. of those reporting have a labor surplus aggregating 135,380, as compared to 127,850 for the previous week. Twelve cities show a shortage of 6,130, leaving 29 cities with an equality.

Cleveland, with 30,000 unemployed and Pittsburgh with 20,000 are the chief centres of unemployment in the absence of specific figures from New York city where the largest surplus was said to exist.

General unemployment exists in Connecticut. Nine of the twelve cities reporting show surpluses and three an equality. Bridgeport reports 6,900 unemployed; New Haven, 1,000; Hartford, Meriden and Norwich 1,000 each; Stamford 400 and New London 300. Industrial relations are good. Fall River, Mass., reports a shortage of textile workers and a surplus in the building trades.

Conditions in Vermont, New Hampshire and Rhode Island are good with supply and demand equal.

Industrial relations in Chicago are acute, but owing to the transient soldiers and sailors no definite estimate of unemployment was given. A big demand for farm labor was opened by Kansas. Practically the same conditions exist in Nebraska, the Dakotas, Wisconsin and Minnesota, which show labor supply and demand in industrial centres on an even keel, but a growing demand for farm labor. On the Pacific coast Los Angeles had 7,000 unemployed, an increase of 500 over the previous week, while San Francisco reported 3,000. California, Oregon and Washington reported some shortage in farm lines.

Bell Rings Today on Derbies, Don Your New Straw Lid

Straw hats come high this year but don one today, for the bell has officially rung on derbies and felts.

Buy early is the advice of leading dealers. They say that the price will advance as the weather gets warmer.

No more can a comfortable summery "lid" be had for the popular price of $1 asked in past seasons. That same piece of headgear this season will set you back just $1.50 and you can pay as much more as you like.

Some very fine specimens can be had all the way from $5 up to $7 and $8, the latter, however, for the popular Panama.

LAWRENCE CAR WRECKED BY DYNAMITE

Lawrence, May 15.—Dynamite placed on the rails near the Glen Forest station on the Bay State Street Railway exploded early today and wrecked a trolley car as it passed over it.

Motorman Fred Greenwood was severely injured when a piece of steel rail was forced through the floor of the vestibule by the explosion. His foot and leg were injured.

It is believed that persons who placed the dynamite on the tracks acted under the belief that the car carried Lowell policemen, who were returning home after a banquet here.

The car windows were shattered, and about three feet of track blown out. The front trucks of the car were badly damaged.

The explosion was similar to one which occurred on the Haverhill line of the Massachusetts Eastern Railway about ten days ago.

TOOK LIGHTED CANDLE IN CLOSET; $800 FIRE

Fire starting when a lighted candle was allowed to come in contact with clothes in a closet on the top floor of the dwelling of Mary T. Powers in Brighton today got into the walls and caused a damage of $800 before it was extinguished. The house is a two-and-one-half-story wooden structure at No. 8 Oak square.

PROVIDENCE MAN IS CAPTURED IN POLICE CHASE

Detected at New York Jewelry Window; Shots Fired in Pursuit

New York, May 15.—Frank Edwards of Providence, R. I., who says he is a jeweler out of work, was arrested and locked up in the Stagg Street Station, Brooklyn, early today after an exciting chase in which half a dozen shots were fired at him by Patrolman John Oakley.

When the patrolman approached a jewelry store at No. 11 Graham avenue, Brooklyn, shortly after 8 o'clock this morning he saw a well dressed man in the act of forcing an entrance into the display window with a screwdriver. The man saw the patrolman, and ran toward Cook street. The patrolman gave chase, firing at the fugitive. After running four blocks the man ducked into No. 32 Cook street.

Patrolman Oakley searched the house from roof to cellar and was about to give up hope of finding the fugitive when he heard a smothered cough.

Going to a coal bin in the cellar he raised the lid and found Edwards.

At the Stagg Street Station Edwards said he had been living for several weeks at No. 151 West Fifty-sixth street, Manhattan, was out of work and decided to "turn off a job" to get enough money to buy a ticket to Providence, his home.

STOREKEEPERS FINED UNDER PURE FOOD LAW

Three storekeepers, appearing before Judge Churchill in the Dorchester Court today upon complaint of Professor James O. Jordan of the Bureau of Milk Inspection, paid fines aggregating $30 for violation of food laws. Jennie Goldman of Blue Hill avenue was fined $15 for selling adulterated vinegar. Everviadis P. Bowman of Washington street, for selling milk not up to standard, Jopin Barkisian of Dorchester avenue, for selling milk not up to standard, was fined $10, and for having unclean milk bottles was fined $5.

TIME TO BUILD IS NOW, SAYS ARCHITECT

Prices of Construction and Materials Not to Be Lower, Declares Brown

Build—NOW!

That is the slogan which Boston, Massachusetts, and all New England are catching up under the American's lead.

The public should realize that now is the time to build, as prices of construction and building materials will not be any lower than they are, and may go higher, according to Willard D. Brown, Boston architect.

"This is the time to build," Mr. Brown said in praising the Boston American's "Build Now" campaign. "People should take advantage of the present opportunity to build, because it will be at least four or five years before the cost of building materials will show any kind of decrease. Those who build now will have an advantage over those who wait, and this statement will be proved in the course of a few months."

Mr. Brown is only one of several Boston architects who hold similar opinions about the Big Building Boom rolling toward Boston from the Central West.

BIG DEMAND FOR HOUSES.

Because of the tendency of out-of-town people to move to or nearer Boston, there will be a big scramble for homes in the near future, according to opinions expressed by several Boston builders and architects. And this influx to Boston, with its already crowded population, will most assuredly result in the construction of a large number of apartment houses of various sizes.

Men who know Boston well and who fully appreciate the home life of the "Hub" feel that Bostonians will find it difficult at first to suit themselves to apartment house homes. It is obvious, they say, that the Bostonian, unlike the New Yorker, will hold out as long as possible for the single or two-family house. But the demands for homes are so great that the apartment house will be the only solution to the vexed problem of housing.

Several Boston firms of contractors and architects are at present working on plans for the construction of apartment houses and while they have in mind the high cost of living and of rents they are not losing sight of the servant problem which was never more difficult than at present.

WILL SOLVE SERVANT PROBLEM.

"The apartment with the kitchenette near the dining room, with patent washers and other mechanical devices to make the work of the home easier for the housewife is coming to Boston," one man prominent in the building lines said. "It will mean the solving of the servant problem for many."

The various statements that now is the time to build is endorsed by Thomas S. Holden, investigator of the economics section of the Public Works and Construction Developments Bureau of the United States Department of Labor. Mr. Holden says there is little or no hope of the cost of building materials or construction coming down.

"From all indications the prices of building materials on the whole will not be subject to any declines of consequence in the future," Mr. Holden says after making a wide investigation. "Building materials increased somewhat more in the East than in the Middle West and the West. Since the opening of the year lumber has increased somewhat in price.

"An attempt has been made to estimate the increase of construction costs. With the co-operation of the United States Housing Corporation, a comparison of the cost of a two-family and stucco house, as between the present time and 1915, has been made, prices in the neighborhood of New York being used. The estimate showed an increase in the cost of construction for this type of building of 48 per cent."

Mr. Holden said that an architect in St. Paul, Minn., has furnished the cost per cubic yard of hospital buildings of reinforced concrete construction for each year from 1911 to 1918. These figures, he said, were based on actual buildings, all of the same type, all by the same architect and the same contractor. They show that the 1918 building cost was 80 per cent. more than the 1915 building.

"The cost today should be appreciably less than this, with reduced prices on reinforced material and increased efficiency of labor," Mr. Holden said. "At the present time there is less concern over high prices than there is with regard to the stability of prices. It appears that the wisest business men are those who decide now to go ahead with the construction of buildings and the production of goods. The need for both forms of activity are more imperative than ever before."

Savings Banks Must Help "Build Now" Campaign

Editor, the American—I note with a great deal of interest the effort your valued paper is making in your "Build Now" campaign. There is no question in any well posted business man's mind but what there is a greater demand for tenement houses and mercantile buildings than ever before.

There is one thing that I wish you would take particular pains to emphasize, and that is—that the builders, operators and private owners must have the co-operation of the savings institutions of Massachusetts to make any movement of this sort a success.

The officials of the savings banks should be brought to realize that they are simply custodians of the people's money, and that it is their duty to loan their money where it is going to do the greatest good to the community.

As I have before publicly stated, there has been more land sold within the last few weeks than within the last two years, and this surely means that, if we all co-operate in attaining the same end, a good result is sure to follow.

Yours very truly,

MARK TEMPLE DOWLING,

President Boston Real Estate Exchange.

HEROES ARE GUESTS AT HOUGHTON-DUTTON DANCE

The employes of Houghton & Dutton Company held their annual concert, whist party and dance for the benefit of the Houghton Dutton Mutual Relief Association in Paul Revere Hall. There were 500 present. William J. Norcross, general manager, and C. F. Vedder, superintendent, represented the company.

Sixty men of the association who have recently been discharged from the service were guests of honor. The soloists at the concert were Misses Eleanor Francis, Helen Shay, Dolly McDonald and Loretta Ryder and Frank McGann and Hrry B. Lowe.

Sweaty Feet Wrong and Unnecessary

Excessive perspiration from the feet is not normal and should not be permitted. It is annoying, embarrassing and ruinous to shoes. This trouble can be absolutely and quickly overcome. Cal-o-cide did it for the soldiers in training and for millions of feet in the past ten years. Get a twenty-five cent package from your druggist. The very first treatment brings most gratifying results, and in a short time the trouble will positively be terminated. Some of the worst cases have been mastered in a week. Cal-o-cide also gives prompt relief for aching, tender, puffed or calloused feet. It goes right into the pores and corrects the cause. In addition, each package of Cal-o-cide contains special little plasters that will remove the worst corn in a hurry. Have good feet. Clip this out.—Advertisement.

TWO OVERLAND Model 90 Stock Cars at noon yesterday finished a remarkable seven-day continuous motor non-stop run between Springfield and Boston with

PERFECT SCORES

Demonstrating the speed, stamina, dependability, economical upkeep and riding comfort that every intelligent motorist is looking for today

Two duplicate Model 90 Overlands taken from stock were started simultaneously, one from Boston and the other from Springfield.

The motors did not stop once during 168 hours of continuous running, although more than a third of the time was spent in mud and rain.

Three round trips were made each day between the two cities and each car was on time at every point. Schedule time 3 hours and 45 minutes.

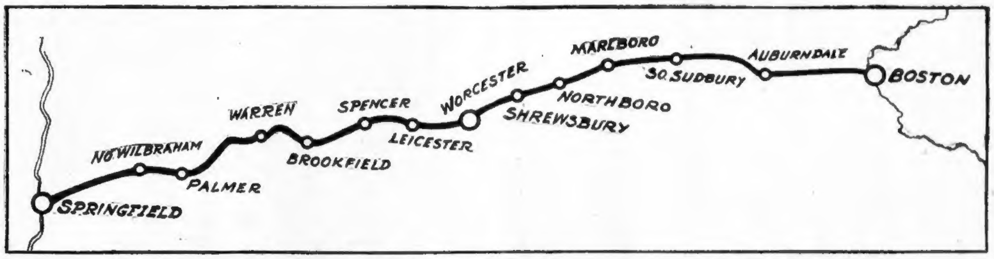
The tires required absolutely no attention in the whole 3882.6 miles, the treads showing but little wear.

The carburetors were not touched.

Not a sparkplug was changed.

The gasoline average was 21.5 miles per gallon.

The oil average was 229 miles per quart.



This map shows route and the towns and cities through which the Overland 90's passed, creating tremendous interest all along the way.

IT WAS a convincing test of the real, honest, visible value of this model 90 Overland. If you would properly appreciate its sterling qualities, ask for a demonstration in an exact duplicate stock car. We have done nothing that you cannot do! There is no greater automobile value in the world!

Don't wait! Do it today. Motoring weather is here.
Act quickly! Enjoy your car as soon as possible.

KIRKPATRICK RECEIVES THE FRENCH WAR CROSS

The Croix de Guerre, awarded for reorganizing his men under violent gunfire and demoralizing conditions near Belleau Wood last June, was conferred upon Gunnery Sergeant William J. Kirkpatrick today by Commandant Rush at the Navy Yard. The citation accompanying the medal is personally signed by Marshal Petain of France and marked with his star, a signal honor for the young marine. The ceremonies attending the presentation consisted of a parade of the Marine Corps band and colors.

REPORT UNREST IN U. S. ARMY IN GERMANY

American soldiers in the army of occupation in Germany want to come home and are bitter at the announcement that a large force will be maintained there "indefinitely," according to practically all the 1,125 overseas men demarked from the Anchor line steamship Toloa at Commonwealth Pier today. The men are mostly members of the 32d Division, which has been in Germany since the armistice.

The soldiers described the feeling in the ranks of the army of occupation as becoming serious, and say the doughboys were satisfied to fight the war to an end, but don't want to police Germany or any other foreign lands "indefinitely."

NEW ENGLANDERS.

The men aboard the Toloa were mostly members of the 121st Machine Gun Battalion and of a detachment of the 121st Field Artillery, both former National Guard units recruited in Wisconsin. There was also a company of casuals, mostly members of the Rainbow and 77th Divisions of New York.

One Y. D. man who was sick when the division sailed, and one former Y. D. man who was transferred just before the armistice, made belated arrivals back on New England soil. Private Arthur Barlow of Northfield, Vt., was in a hospital when the 101st Machine Gun Battalion left Brest, and Lieutenant Albert Barker of Detroit was transferred from Company L, 103rd Infantry, to the air service shortly before November 11.

The troops aboard the Toloa were in command of Lieutenant-Colonel Dan L. Remington, a Croix de Guerre man. Among the New Englanders on the ship were Lieutenant William Keohane of Springfield, general headquarters of the 76th Division; Majors King and Le Croix of Boston; and William Pierson, who has been engaged in "Y" work with the army of occupation.

MANY DECORATIONS.

The Wisconsin men are inclined to pride themselves on the fact that the 32d was the only former National Guard Division to get into Germany. There was a liberal sprinkling of decorations among the machine gunners and artillerymen.

Captain J. G. Brunkhorst of Wisconsin possessed more citations and decorations than any man who has recently returned from overseas, having been honored by the high command of two armies for his work in directing a battery of the 121st Field Artillery during the fighting at Janigny. The barrage the battery laid down isolated 1,000 Germans, who were forced to surrender without a single American casualty. The men left today for Camp Devens and will be sent from there to home camps.

COSTELLO DID NOT VOTE FOR SAVINGS BANK BILL

Editor American:

In reading last evening's edition of your paper I notice among the names of many others that Mr. Simon Swig takes the liberty of using my name and saying that I did not know what I was voting for when I voted on senate bill No. 437. I hope you will be kind enough to print in your paper the fact that I did NOT vote for that bill, but against it; neither have I authorized Mr. Swig or any other man to say that I was mistaken and did not vote intelligently on this bill. Hoping you will give this as large a headline as you gave to Mr. Swig's item, I am

Sincerely yours,
P. M. COSTELLO,
Representative Ward 11.
Boston, May 14.

HUSBAND AND WIFE MAKE DEATH PACT

Brockton, May 15.—A critical nervous state, brought about in the husband by injuries suffered in an auto accident, and in the wife by the strain of nursing her husband, is said to have been the cause of the mutually planned suicide attempt by Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel F. Southworth, who drank large doses of a mixture of iodine and whiskey. The names of both are on the dangerous list at the Brockton hospital.

DEDHAM A. O. H. AUXILIARY OPENS TWO-DAY BAZAAR

A two days' bazaar will open tonight in Hibernian Hall, Dedham, by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Division No. 14, A. O. H. Special features have been arranged for by the committee, of which Miss Anna Collins is chairman. Mrs. Catherine Feeney, president of the auxiliary, is chairman of the reception committee to greet returned Dedham soldiers and sailors.

LEOMINSTER DIVIDED ON "WELCOME HOME" FUND

Leominster, May 15.—The town is split into factions regarding the manner of welcoming back the boys who have been in service. The strongest faction wants to divide the funds available among the men, to be spent as they like. Another party is holding out for a parade and general field day.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

WARE IS LONESOME IN SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

Worcester, May 15.—Ware has the doubtful distinction of being the only town in the United States not making an organised effort to help the Salvation Army drive for funds. So says H. L. Tucker of this city, campaign director, after conferring with the officials of Ware relative to the appointment of committees and the planning of the drive. Ware people say they believe in the Salvation Army, but refuse to do any work in connection with the appeal for funds.

"WELCOME" MEETING TO TEMPLE BROTHERHOOD

At the big Welcome Home banquet of the Men's Brotherhood of Tremont Temple over 100 members of that organization will be guests of honor May 21 in Converse Hall of the temple. Governor Milliken of Maine and Chaplain Jason Noble Pierce will speak. Rev. Dr. D. M. Lockrow, leader of the brotherhood, will read the names of the 400 who have seen service during the war.

EDWARD R. PEARCE, OLD BOSTON CHEF, IS DEAD

Edward R. Pearce, for many years a chef at leading Boston hotels, and a former sea captain, is dead at his home, No. 28 Fairfield street, North Cambridge. He was born in Provincetown seventy-two years ago and followed the sea for many years, retiring as a captain. He was later chef at the Adams House, Young's Hotel and the Parker House. He is survived by a son, Benjamin F. Pearce, and three daughters, Mrs. Ida F. Teak, Mrs. Arthur T. Browne and Emma F. Pearce. The funeral will be private.

FITCHBURG WOMAN DEAD AT AGE OF 96

Fitchburg, May 15.—Fitchburg's oldest woman, Abigail T. (Wheeler) Frost, died at her home at the age of ninety-six. She was born in Boxboro.

SOLDIERS' REFERENDUM ON MARLBORO FETE

Marlboro, May 15.—Owing to the belief that the date for the celebration in honor of the home-coming of the men of the service, which was scheduled for July 4, may be inconvenient to many of the boys to remain here, the date for the celebation may be changed. Mayor Charles F. McCarthy will call a meeting, at which the committee in charge of the celebration will act on what will be a referendum vote on the part of the soldiers themselves.

ENTENTE ADVANCE ON BUDAPEST NEXT WEEK

Exclusive Cable to the International News Service from Il Secolo, Milan.

Milan, May 15.—The entente armies are preparing to renew their advance on Budapest, beginning next week, said a dispatch from Vienna today.

Former Governor to Speak

Former Governor Augustus E. Willson of Kentucky is to be the Memorial Day speaker at Harvard. The services will be held in Sanders Theatre.

Removes Hairy Growths Without Pain or Bother

(Modes of Today)

It is not necessary to use a painful process to remove hairy growths, for with a little delatone handy you can keep the skin entirely free from these beauty destroyers. To remove hair, make a stiff paste with a little powdered delatone and water. Spread this on the hairy surface and in about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To guard against disappointment, be careful to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

CHILD WELFARE CONFERENCE IS OPENED

Leading Authorities of World Take Part in State House Session

One of the most important conferences on the subject of Child Welfare opened today in the State House auditorium and brought together prominent men and women from all parts of the world, interested in this subject.

Foreign delegates who attended the sessions today and who will participate tomorrow in the programs, include Sir Arthur Newsholme of England, late chief medical officer of the Local Government Board and a recognized authority on child welfare; Sir Cyril Jackson of the London Board of Education; R. C. Davidson, director of the Juvenile Labor Exchanges of England, leading English authority on child labor; Dr. Rene Sand, professor of Industrial and Social Medicine at the University of Brussels, who was in charge of Belgian War Hospitals in London, and at the fighting front; Mrs. Eleanor Barton of the Women's Co-operative Guild of Great Britain;; Dr. Clotilde Moulon of the French War Department.

Takayuki Namaye, an official of the Japanese Department of the Interior; Miss L. E. Carter, a Belgian, in charge of a girls' school at Brussels throughout the entire period of the war; Rene de Mot, a Belgian; Lady Newsholme of England, Professor Fabio Frasetto, professor of anthropology at the University of Bologna; Dr. Radmila Lazarevitch Milochenitch, a Serbian physician and leader in social activities.

The program opened with an address of welcome by Governor Coolidge and was followed by the opening address by Miss Julia C. Lathrop, chief of the Federal Children's Bureau. Chairman Payson Smith, commissioner of Education for Massachusetts, next spoke on "Working Children and Education," followed by R. C. Davison, director of Juvenile Labor Exchanges of England; Miss Carter, for the Belgian Girls' School, and Sir Cyril Jackson.

Speakers at the evening session in the State House will include Dr. Richard M. Smith of the Massachusetts General Hospital, Dr. Rene Sand, Mrs. Eleanor Barton and Sir Arthur Newsholme. Dr. Smith will be chairman.

A visit to Harvard and Radcliffe Colleges will be a feature of the day's program tomorrow and will occupy the time between 12 and 2 o'clock. Following that will be the last session of the conference in the State House auditorium.

SINN FEINERS PAY U. S. COURT FINES

New York, May 15.—Three Sinn Fein leaders arrested in the Fall of 1917 charged with conspiring to obtain false American passports to enable them to reach Ireland and assist in a second "Easter rebellion," pleaded guilty in Federal District Court here and paid fines of $250 each. They were Dr. Patrick J. McCarten, "General" Liam Mellowes and James M. McDermott.

BRITISH FLYER IS HELD AS HOTEL BEAT.

New York, May 15.—Charged with impersonating a Lieutenant-Colonel in the British army and with departing from the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel without paying his bill Captain Daw McNabb of the British Royal Flying Corps has been placed under custody here by the British provost office. It is also alleged he forged a passport in order to reach this country.

BACK FIRE CAUSES $100 DAMAGE TO AUTOMOBILE

Firemen were summoned today to extinguish a fire in an automobile of the Consolidated Gas Company, in front of No. 17 Hilton street, Roxbury. Damage was estimated at $100. The blaze was started by a back fire.

Who's Who in the 26th Division

REV. LYMAN H. ROLLINS.

Rev. Lyman H. Rollins, rector of St. Michael's Episcopal Church, Marblehead, and chaplain of the 101st Infantry, is one of the best loved and most popular men in the 26th Division. He was born in Concord, N. H., April 21, 1881, graduated from Bates College in 1906, Newton Theological Seminary with degree of B. D. in 1911, and Episcopal Theological School in 1912. He was ordained deacon in June, 1912, by Bishop Lawrence and priest the following year.

In 1911-12 he was assistant at St. John's Church, Charlestown, and from 1912 to 1915 was curate at St. Stephen's Church, Lynn. In 1915 he became rector of St. Michael's Church, Marblehead, which position he still holds. He is unmarried.

In June, 1916, he became chaplain of the 5th Regiment, Massachusetts Infantry, National Guard, and served in that capacity at the Mexican border from July 1 to November 1, 1916. He was secretary of the publicity board, Massachusetts National Guard. On July 25, 1917, he was called into Federal service and transferred as chaplain of the 101st Infantry the following September 5. He sailed for Europe two days later.

Sailing from France on June 9, 1918, he returned to the United States on a mission for the commander-in-chief. He arrived in France again July 10, 1918. On August 1, 1918, he was transferred as division chaplain to the Third Division, but was returned as chaplain of the 101st Infantry October 1. His period of service with the American Expeditionary Force in France covered a period of eighteen months. He was discharged from the United States army April 28, 1919.

The battles and engagements in which Chaplain Rollins figured include Chemin-des-Dames, February 6 to March 18, 1918; Toul sector, April 1 to June 5, 1918; raid on Rupt-de-Mad, May 30-31, 1918; Montfaucon attack, September 11, 1918; Troyon sector, October 2 to 8, 1918; Verdun sector, October 10 to November 14, 1918; Argonne-Meuse offensive, October 23, 1918.

He was awarded the Croix de Guerre June 8, 1918, and was cited in Orders G. O. 752 A 32, French Army Corps, and in General Orders 47, Headquarters 26th Division, June 8, 1918. He was wounded in the Argonne-Meuse offensive October 23, 1918.

ESPAGNE ARRIVES WITH 317 MEN FROM FRANCE

New York, May 15.—The French liner Espagne arrived from Havre this morning with 317 troops, including scattered casual companies.

SECRET SERVICE MEN ROUND UP SIX COINERS

A skilful and dangerous gang of counterfeiters has been rounded up with the arrest of five men and a woman in three New England cities during the past two weeks by Secret Service men.

The five persons arrested are Rocco Iacoussi and his wife, Marie, of Worcester; Alfredo Martello of Worcester, Rocco Rissacaro of Gardner, and Michael D. Battista and Dominico Spanoda, both of Providence. The Worcester trio are regarded by the Secret Service men as the leaders of the band. All five have been held under $5,000 bail.

In numerous raids made in Providence and Worcester the government agents found quantities of the coins, as well as molds and other paraphernalia and quantities of metal used in the manufacture of the spurious money. Large numbers of half dollars, quarters and dimes were found in a music box at the Iacoussi house, while molds were found in a gas oven in the same house. All have been brought to the secret service headquarters here and will be exhibited to the Grand Jury as evidence.

RAILROAD STATION MEN TO MEET IN PORTLAND

Grand Secretary-Treasurer Frank Hughes of Medford and five other members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Employes will leave Boston on Saturday for Portland, Me., where the first biennial convention of the brotherhood will take place. Grand President P. J. Coyle will be in Portland at that time, preparatory to the meetings which will commence Sunday morning preparing amendments to the constitution, auditing the financial report of the secretary-treasurer and transacting other business incidental to the convention.

MEDAL OF DEAD HERO GOES TO HIS MOTHER

A Somerville mother will be given her dead hero son's Distinguished Service Medal and the McIntyre sisters of Salvation Army fame will receive medals and citations at the public award of three Distinguished Service Medals and two citations at the military ceremony on Boston Common May 20 next, according to an official statement issued at army headquarters here.

The mother is Mrs. Edward A. Martell of No. 104 Rogers avenue, Somerville. Her son was Judson G. Martell of the 6th Infantry. His medal is awarded for extraordinary heroism in action near Cunel, France, on October 14, 1918. Though severely wounded, he continued fighting throughout a severe machine gun and sniper's fire until killed.

The famous McIntyre sisters of the Salvation Army will be awarded a medal and citation statement for heroism under fire at Ansanville and at Beulecourt in the Toul sector. General Edwards will make the presentation.

A Distinguished Service Medal goes to Lieutenant-Colonel James M. Flint, a Yale professor, for extraordinary skill and judgment in organizing and operating Mobile Hospital No. 39 at St. Aulnoissous-Vertuzey. His unit was the first of its kind with the A. E. F.

Clifford E. Mellen of Worcester is another of the heroes to be signalled out for honor. He was with Company A, 104th Infantry. While in a shellhole at Verdun, he threw a hand grenade accidentally among a group of his own officers and men. He was wounded severely when, after springing for the grenade, he was hurling it away. His prompt action saved the lives of his comrades. Mellen now lives at No. 6 Hooper street, Worcester.

UNITED WORKMEN HONOR GRAND FOREMAN STEELE

Fred J. Steele, recently elected grand foreman of the Ancient Order of United Workmen of Massachusetts, was guest of honor at a reception in Gould Hall, attended by more than 150 members and women friends. On behalf of West End Lodge a gold chain and emblem charm of the order were presented to Mr. Steele by James Reilly, and tributes were paid to his work as a Grand Lodge officer by Senator John J. Walsh, Martin Hays and other speakers. Lodges all over the State were represented. District Deputy Thomas O'Connell gave an address and there were musical numbers and refreshments.

FAIL OF AGREEMENT ON STREET CAR WAGES

Worcester, May 15.—The officials of the Worcester and Springfield street railway companies and their employes have again failed to reach an agreement as to the new wage schedule and there are indications that arbitration by a third party will ultimately be resorted to. The employes demand $5 for an eight-hour day.

BOY SCOUTS TO RALLY AT DUNBAR AVE. FIELD

HEINZ, "PICKLE KING," DIES AT PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, May 15.—H. J. Heinz, proprietor of the "57 varieties," died in his home here at the age of seventy-five.

Mr. Heinz started the food product business in 1869, packing horse radish in bottles.

His factory was the basement of a small dwelling.

He extended his efforts to the packing of pickles and other food products until the business had expanded to its present tremendous proportions.

The Heinz establishment now has a floor space of thirty acres.

A HOME MADE GRAY HAIR REMEDY

You Can Make at Home a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary. You can darken it without using a dye.

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is not a dye, it does not color the most delicate scalp; is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off."

CUTICURA HEALS PIMPLES

On face. Itched severely. Was disfigured and ashamed to go out. Scaled over and were large and hard. Broke into large sore eruptions. Could not sleep. Troubled four months. Advised to try Cuticura and sent for free sample. Bought more, and after using four cakes Soap and four boxes Ointment was healed.

From signed statement of Miss Carolina Schiana, 15 Hewitt St., Providence, R. I., Sept. 19, 1918.

The Cuticura Toilet Trio, consisting of Soap, Ointment and Talcum, promotes and maintains skin purity, comfort and health. Sample Each Free by Mail. Address "Cuticura, Dept. H, Boston." Soap, Ointment and Talcum 25c. each everywhere.

TEAMSTER'S LIFE SAVED

WRITES LETTER THAT IS WORTH READING VERY CAREFULLY

Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—I was afflicted with a very severe sore on my leg for years. I am a teamster. I tried all medicines and salves, but without success. I tried doctors, but they failed to cure me. I couldn't sleep for many nights from pain. Doctors said I could not live for more than two years. Finally Peterson's Ointment was recommended to me, and by its use the sore was entirely healed. Thankfully yours, William Haase, West Park, Ohio, March 28, 1915, care P. G. Reitz, Box 199.

Peterson says: "I am proud of the above letter and have hundreds of others that tell of wonderful cures of Eczema, Piles and Skin Diseases."

Peterson's Ointment is 35 cents at all druggists, and there isn't a broad-minded druggist in America that won't praise it.—Advertisement.

N. E. SHIPPING RATES CUT BY BARGE LINE

Ten Per Cent. Saving in the Hudson River-Erie Canal Route

New England shippers of freight will come into their own at last with the establishment by the Railroad Administration of a new line of barges on the Hudson River and the Erie Canal, beginning today. According to the Boston Chamber of Commerce the new line will effect tremendous savings in freight rates.

First-class freight, and it is pointed out that nearly all freight originating in New England a first class, may now be shipped at a saving of ten cents per hundredweight if sent by rail to the Hudson River, by barge to Buffalo and by rail to Chicago. On shipments by rail and barge to Buffalo and thence by lake boats to Chicago, savings of 20 cents per hundredweight may be realized.

This will come as a boon to New England, especially as all previous rulings of the Railroad Administration have been to the disadvantage of local shippers.

Shipments originating on the New Haven road will be routed via Beacon, N. Y.; on the Boston & Albany, via Hudson, N. Y., and on the Boston & Maine, via Troy, N. Y. The freight will be carried in self-propelled barges, of which the government will have 75 in operation by next month. About ten days will be required for transit vit Beacon to Buffalo and nine days via Troy to Buffalo.

CARPENTERS EXPECT TO WIN $8 DAILY WAGE

Striking carpenters today predicted a victory in their battle for eight dollars a day, pointing out that several big jobs must be commenced next week which will require many men. All of the strikers expect to go back to work at the wages demanded.

Today more builders sent in signed agreements assenting to the increase of $1 per hour. Others, it was stated, are engaged in contract work and there will be no change in their status until these contracts expire.

President F. M. Curley and Secretary Joseph Twomey of the Carpenters' District Union stated today they expected little change in conditions for two or three days. According to officials of the organization there are some eighteen hundred members in the local. Of this number half are out on strike and half are working.

FURNITURE STORE FIRE DOES $50,000 DAMAGE

Pittsfield, May 15.—Fire in the Rice and Kelly furniture store gutted the fourth floor and damaged the three lower, including the storage rooms of the furniture store, F. G. Belden's sporting goods store, Robert B. Donaldson's cigar and news store, King's hat store and Alexander's women's shop, the loss about $50,000. Water and smoke damage was heavy in the Besse and Clarke men's furnishings store in the south end of the block.

PLEDGES $750,000 TO METHODIST FUND

New York, May 15.—A westerner, whose fortune is $1,500,000, has pledged exactly one half that sum, $750,000, to the Methodist centennary fund which begins its drive next Sunday, it is announced at headquarters. He asked that his name be kept secret.

Mrs. Gustavus Swift of Chicago donated $50,000, President Chi Shih Chang, of China $1,000, Premier Chien, $500 and other Chinese officials lesser amounts, it is announced.

WIVES AND MOTHERS CAN GET PASSPORTS

Washington, May 15.—The War Department after June 15 will offer no objections to the issuance of passports to wives and mothers wishing to go abroad to visit soldiers, Secretary Baker announced today. However, inquiry at the State Department disclosed the fact that no change is contemplated in the present regulations, which allow passports only to persons going abroad "on urgent business."

FERGUSON NEW HEAD OF U. S. COMMERCE CHAMBER

Washington, May 15.—Homer L. Ferguson of Newport News, Va., has been elected president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, succeeding Harry A. Wheeler of Chicago, who declined re-election. A. C. Bedford, New York city; Joseph H. Freed, Chicago, and Thomas H. Gaylor, bishop of Tennessee, were elected vice-presidents.

WORCESTER WANTS OWN NATIONAL GUARD UNIT

Washington, May 15.—Governor Coolidge and officers of the National Guard now proposed will be asked to locate a regimental headquarters in Worcester.

State Senator Peter F. Sullivan is back of the movement and a delegation, headed by him and Mayor Pehr G. Holmes, will wait upon the Governor at an early date.

MAN DROPS OVER DAM THEN SWIMS ASHORE

Nashua, N. H., May 15.—Henry Morneaux was swept over the concrete dam of the Jackson Mills in the Nashua River when the engine of his motorboat stalled, but took the 20-foot drop without injury, swimming ashore after he had come up between the two-foot curtain of water and the dam.

SERVICE MEN STILL WANT WAR INSURANCE

Applications for insurance are being received by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance at the rate of several hundred a day, from men who are enlisting or re-enlisting in the Army or Navy. To date the Bureau of War Risk Insurance has insured 4,522,724 men for $39,561,994,500. The average policy is for $8,747.

Swig Thanks American for Aid in Bank Bill Fight

Editor of the American:

I wish to thank you for your able championship of the people's cause so far as it bears on the statute which ordains that thrifty people shall lose their right to the earnings on their savings if they withdraw deposits before six months.

The American's espousal of the principle of the initiative and referendum made possible the success of that movement. It will be due largely to the paper's influence in calling public attention to the iniquitous law which I am opposing if my efforts are rewarded with success. There seems no probability of failure.

Already, as a result of the powerful advocacy of the American, many persons have called at the bank of the Tremont Trust Company to sign referendum petitions and to aid in their circulation.

Yours very truly,
SIMON SWIG,
Vice-president Tremont Trust Company.

Boston, May 14, 1919.

"Setting Hen" New Concoction to Wet Dries

The "Setting Hen" is the latest pinch-hitter in the Demon Rum League. It is one of the numerous substitutes for alcoholic beverages which are being concocted to sidestep the prohibition prospect.

The "Setting Hen" kicks like an army mule. It is made from corn, rye or oatmeal, yeast and black molasses, fermented and then distilled. It is said to be highly popular in the Virginias and Carolinas.

The "Setting Hen" is guaranteed to hatch out chickens of inebriation that are zoological marvels.

HOLD BERKSHIRE AUTO BANDITS FOR HEARING

Northampton, May 15.—Three of the six auto bandits arrested in Lee Saturday and who, the police say, admit robbing the Fuller and Bartlett stores in Belchertown May 9, were held for the grand jury in bonds of $1,000 each, after a hearing in police court here. The other three denied guilt and were held for a hearing.

The men held for the grand jury are Joseph Walker of South Boston, John M. Durkey of Providence, R. I., and Roland Shield of New Bedford. The others are Arthur Sheller of Pasadena, Cal., and Edgar Russell and Louis Fein of Boston. The prisoners are wanted in Providence on the charge of having stolen their automobile in that city.

CHARLESTOWN'S OWN TRIBUTE TO SOLDIERS

District Begins Two-Day Celebration With Noise, Gay Decorations and So On

With tooting of whistles, salutes from guns in the navy yard, church services of thanksgiving, entertainment features and a parade, Charlestown today opened the two-day celebration in honor of her soldiers and sailors. All the clubs and festival organizations kept open house, and many private homes were the scene of entertainment of service men.

City Councilman Daniel J. McDonald was in general charge of arrangements. Services were held at nine a. m. in the three Catholic churches of the district: St. Mary's, St. Francis de Sales and St. Catherine's, and special thanksgiving services were observed also in the Protestant churches of all denominations.

The parade will start at 6 p. m. and pass through the principal streets of the city. In the evening there will be wrestling matches and other sports in the armory for service men, and various club entertainments. The district was gaily decorated with flags and bunting, especially along the line of march.

Why all this Precaution?

JUST wherein lies the reason for the use of vegetable preparations for infants and children?

Why are any but vegetable preparations unsafe for infants and children?

Why are Syrups, Cordials and Drops condemned by all Physicians and most laymen?

Why has the Government placed a ban on all preparations containing, among other poisonous drugs, Opium in its variously prepared forms and pleasing tastes, and under its innumerable names?

These are questions that every Mother will do well to inquire about.

Any Physician will recommend the keeping of Fletcher's Castoria in the house for the common ailments of infants and children.

CASTORIA

The False and the True.

Advertising by the use of large space, the expenditure of huge sums of money have placed on the market, have put in your home, perhaps, many articles that today have been discarded, as you will readily admit.

Do you recall anything that has more modestly appealed to the public than has Fletcher's Castoria: modest in all its claims, pleading at all times—and truthfully—for our babies?

The big splurg, the misleading claims may win for a time, but the honest truth-telling advertiser is like the old story of the tortoise that beat the hare.

Mothers everywhere, and their daughters, now mothers, speak frankly, glowingly, enthusiastically in praise of Fletcher's Castoria. Speak of it lovingly as a friend that has brought comfort, cheer and smiles to their little-one.

There are substitutes and imitations as there are for the diamond, for anything of value. One might almost say that that which is not copied has no value. So you have had the signature of Chas. H. STEAMSHIP MEN MAKE DEMANDS FOR BOSTON

Organize New Association and Will Ask Shipping Board to Send Large Vessels Here

Officials of some of the largest steamship companies operating out of Boston met here today, organized the New England Steamship Association, and arranged to present to the United States Shipping Board the claims of the port of Boston for larger vessels to handle the increasinb business, especially South American.

The meeting was attended by more than a score of shipping operators, and was one of the most important ever held to develop the interests of the port.

It was held in the offices of the Coastwise Transportation Company at No. 40 Central street. Captain John B. Crowley of that company presided and was elected chairman of the permanent organization, with Richard R. Freeman as secretary. Trans-Atlantic and coastwise lines were represented at the gathering.

Captain Crowley, Captain Eugene E. O'Donnell and Charles Skentelberry were appointed a committee to draw u pa brief, to be presented to the United States Shipping Board, showing why larger sea-going vessels should be allocated, or assigned, by the shipping board to New England shipping operators.

The complaint of Boston shipping interests is that the allocations of vessels to Boston and New England have so far been nearly all small lake-type steamers, unfitted for overseas traffic. Boston shippers and ship-operators call for larger vessels.

There is steady demand for increased tonnage out of this port to South America, Europe and to the Pacific coast, via the Panama Canal. Boston operators find themselves unable to accept business through lack of tonnage.

J. A. FOSTER, PROVIDENCE PAWNBROKER, IS DEAD

Providence, R. I., May 15.—James A. Foster, millionaire pawnbroker and jeweler of this city, died of shock today at his palatial home at Warwick Neck, adjoining the residence of the late Senator Aldrich. He was seventy-three. Mr. Foster had large investments in automobile concerns, owned much Providence real estate and was a member of the automobile firm of Foster, Smith & Co. He was also interested in Providence theatres and had spent the entire day before his death in planning improvements to the Colonial Theatre.

TEACHERS UNION IN BROOKLINE PLANNED

Committee Appointed to Consider Organization of School Workers

Brookline school teachers and townspeople were told of the advantages of the union of teachers, associated with the American Federation of Labor, at a meting held in the Brookline Public Library by Dr. George N. Nasmyth.

The teachers voted to leave the matter of organizing with the American Federation of Teachers, to a committee of five, two to be selected from the Brookline Parents' Association and the remaining members to be chosen from the teachers, to consider the movement and report their opinion at a later date.

Some of those present stated that Brookline teachers ought to become associated with some organization that would give the teachers a greater voice in the affairs of the nation.

Dr. Nasmyth referred to the large numbers of teachers' clubs in the central West applying for membership in the Teachers' Union, who have their own charters.

He said officials of the Massachusetts Federation of Teachers were in favor of teachers' clubs joining the union.

He added that through a union the self respect of the teacher would be raised by making her position more secure.

Another teacher said that the conditions for teachers and pupils in Brookline are 90 per cent. superior to those in other communities in the country, adding that Brookline teachers are fortunate in the consideration of salaries, housing conditions and lack of autocratic dismissal and control. The low rate of salary does not apply to Brookline, another teacher said.

Do You Pay 66¢ for Sirloin Steak? —or 33 Cents?

We serve all tastes

A recent Government bulletin quoted sirloin steak in different cities at prices ranging from 33 to 66 cents!

We buy live cattle, according to quality, all the way from $7.00 to $20.00 per hundred-weight, live weight. Sirloins from these cattle vary greatly in quality.

Some retailers sell 33 cent sirloins. These steaks come from cheaper cattle.

Customers of other retailers demand choice sirloins at 66 cents. These retailers buy meat from higher-priced cattle.

Also, the retailer who carries complete stocks, delivers to your door, and lets you run a charge account, has to get higher prices than the retailer who runs a "cash and carry" store.

We sell beef of a given quality at practically the same price all over the country—except for slight differences due to freight rates.

And our profit hardly affects the price at all—only a fraction of a cent per pound.

FIN. COM. CALLS HALT ON LONG ISLAND BILLS

Cost of Repairing Furnaces Excessive, Says Report to Mayor

It costs the city just thirty-four cents a brick to erect two furnaces at Long Island, according to a report to the Mayor today by the Finance Commission. The commission recommends that payment of the bills should be withheld until a substantial reduction is made and that work of similar nature in the future should not be undertaken until preliminary estimates are obtained.

The last paragraph of the report reads:

This is another instance of the inefficient administration of the Long Island institution to which the commission has on previous occasion directed Your Honor's attention."

When the report reached City Hall it was rumored that it was another step in the attempt to oust Dr. Charles Donlan, the superintendent. The amount of the bill is small. The report says in part:

LABOR CHARGE EXCESSIVE.

"The commission finds it impossible to determine now the conditions under which the work was performed and is therefore unable to state exactly what a fair labor cost should have been. It is, however, apparent that the labor charge is greatly in excess of what the work done would justify.

"It is also impossible to submit definite figures regarding the bill of the Pennsylvania Tile and Construction Company for relining the fireboxes of three of the boilers at Long Island.

"The work was done by a foreman mason at wages of 93¾ cents per hour. The wages of ordinary bricklayers at the time appear to have been 87½ cents per hour. This mason had two tenders at $4 a day. There is also a charge for forty hours' time of a superintendent at $1 per hour. Under the conditions a superintendent was unnecessary. The total time charged for the mason was 214 hours, indicating that slightly over twenty-seven days were consumed in repairing these furnaces, a total labor cost—including profit—of $541.41, or $180.47 for each furnace.

REPORT OF EXPERT.

"It appears that 2,600 bricks were purchased and 1,690 bricks used, which would indicate a labor cost of 34 cents for laying each brick, including the cutting out of the old lining.

"The consulting engineer of the commission states in his report on the matter that 'certainly not more than three days for one mason should be consumed in the lining of each furnace, and allowing for all possible contingencies the superintendent would not have been warranted in approving a bill that called for more than three days per furnace for one mason and his tenders. In confirmation of this estimate the commission has secured figures from various sources of cost for relining furnaces of approximately the same size. From one State department it finds that the labor cost for two boilers, including cutting out old brick work and relining, including the bridge walls, to be $25.50, a labor cost of $12.25 per furnace."

CAMBRIDGE BOYS HELD AT PROVIDENCE

Providence, May 15.—Two East Cambridge boys were detained at police headquarters today when a loaded revolver was found in the pocket of one of the boys who was searched at the Union Station by Train Announcer William Carpenter. The boys gave the names of John Johnson of No. 139 Spring street and Charles Ellison of No. 135 Fifth street, and their ages as sixteen and fifteen, respectively. The police declared that the 22-calibre revolver was so rusty it could not be discharged. The boys said they were on their way to the West. Their parents were notified.

HELD LIGHTED MATCH TO GAS TANK OF AUTO

Providence, R. I., May 15.—Abraham Berman of No. 39 Princeton avenue held a lighted match near an open gasoline tank in his mother's automobile to see how near full it was. His mother, her husband, Benjamin, and Everett Brow of No. 27 Byron street, Cranston, leaped from the car just as it burst into flames. The gasoline station of Dutee W. Flint at Myrtle and Broad streets was considerably damaged as well.

ALL HARRISON NEEDS NOW IS BELL RINGER

Washington, May 15.—"Governor Harrison and Miss Betty Wrentmore will be married here at my home in Washington," says a statement from Mrs. Burton Harrison, mother of the governor-general, denying the report that they would be married somewhere in the mid-continent today.

"The date has not been set," said Mrs. Harrison, "but it will be soon."

The wedding cannot be solemnized until the California courts hand down the final decree to the present Mrs. Harrison which will legally permit Governor-General Harrison to wed again. The decree is expected at any time now.

Just who will give the bride-to-be away is a mooted question. It will not be her parents, for both Professor Wrentmore and Mrs. Wrentmore, according to advices from Berkeley, are more opposed to the union than ever.

It was stated that Harrison was in New York and Miss Wrentmore with friends close by, and that both would not come to Washington until the decree was obtained, when the wedding would follow as quickly as possible at the home of the Governor's mother at No. 1607 Eye street.

G. O. P. SENATORS FIX UP ORGANIZATION SLATE.

Washington, May 15.—Forty-three of the forty-nine Republican senators who will control the next Senate met in caucus and fixed up the slate for the Senate organization.

With the lone exception of the presidency pro tem of the Senate every office on the list including the chairmanships of three important caucus committees was captured by the "Old Guard."

Senator Cummins of Iowa was chosen president pro tem. This is all the Progressives were allowed.

The Old Guard seated Senator Lodge as chairman of the caucus, Senator Wadsworth as secretary and Senator Curtis as the Senate whip.

AIR MAIL MADE $21,800 PROFIT IN YEAR

First Anniversary of New York-Washington Service Shows Plan Is a Success

Washington, May 15.—The first anniversary of the inauguration of the aerial mail service between Washington and New York was observed today by many prominent government officials, who gathered at College Park to witness the flight of the mail plane. Among them were Postmaster-General Burleson, Assistant Postmaster-General Praeger and Major-General C. T. Menoher, head of the department of military aeronautics. Brigadier-General L. E. O. Charlton, air attache of the British Embassy, also was a spectator.

The two planes that took the air today, one from Washington and the other from New York, were the same that carried the mail a year ago, and have been constantly in the service. One has been in the air 164 hours, flying 10,716 miles, and has carried 572,828 letters. It has cost in service $65.80 per hour. The other plane has been in the air 222 hours, flying 15,018 miles, and has carried 485,120 letters. It has cost $48.34 an hour.

The record of the entire service between New York and Washington shows 93 per cent. of the performance during the entire year, representing 128,037 miles traveled and 7,720,840 letters carried.

The revenues from airplane mail stamps amounted to [illegible] and the cost of the service $137,900.06.

"The operation of the airplane mail service every day in the year except Sunday, encountering all sorts of weather conditions and meeting them successfully, has demonstrated the practicability of employing the airplane for commercial service," said Postmaster-General Burleson.

EDWARDS FAVORS HIGH SCHOOL RIFLE PRACTICE

Major-General C. R. Edwards wants young men in the upper classes of high schools trained in rifle practice. He gave his opinion today to Major J. L. Portal of Woburn, who is inspector of rifle practice in six of the Boston schools. The general said: "We do not want anyone to think this is a move for universal military training. We want some method that will supplant the mere squirrel hunter and bird killer. That kind of a chap should be taught the use of the rifle in some systematic way in our public schools. To shoot well at a target will use up some of that superfluous energy that tempts a boy to go into the woods and shoot anything that has life just for the sake of shooting."

REPORT THREE DEAD AS GASOLINE SHIP BURNS

Washington, May 15.—The City of Mobile, a barkentine of Port Arthur, Tex., loaded with gasoline, was practically destroyed with the probable loss of three lives, as the result of an explosion while the vessel was in the harbor of Montevideo, Uruguay, yesterday, the State Department was advised today. Dewitt Harp and R. Howard Thomson, Americans, and Carl Pearson, a Danish citizen, [illegible] reported missing and probably dead.

HELD ON CHARGE OF THEFT FROM U. S. MAIL

In Police Court today United States Deputy Marshal Bernard Bradley arrested Florence B. GIRL STUDENTS MUST GIVE UP POWDER

Lip Sticks Also Banned at University of Chicago High School

Chicago, May 15.—Life for the pretty girl students at the University of Chicago High School is getting to be "just one self-denial after another," to quote one of the prettiest sufferers.

The latest—and some say the most drastic—would abolish the powder puff, rouge and the eyebrow pencil.

"Why, all the girls use these little first aids to beauty," the incog informant declared, "use them daily with telling, though not exactly visibly.

"The idea is all wrong. It does no harm to dab a little powder on the end of your nose, touch up your lips and cheeks a bit or emphasize, just a trifle, the eyebrows. And, what's more, these little stunts will improve a girl's looks, no matter how good-looking she is to start with.

"Then look at the next 'don't' on this list they just circulated.

It reads: "We would recommend that students carry only enough money for the legitimate expenses of each day."

"Wonder what they call legitimate? I am sure ice cream, candy and an occasional movie should come under that head."

The trouble is the girls do not know who to go to for an interpretion of the word "legitimate."

Principle George L. Harris said the protest against "conspicuous and inappropriate dress, rouging and the use of powder," and the curtailment of expense money originated with the Parents' Association of the University High School.

"If that so, what's the use of protesting," said the pretty informant as she dabed her nose with the powder puff and started for a movie.

"DOCTOR" FINED FOR ILLEGAL PRACTICE

New Bedford, May 15.—On a charge of practicing medicine illegally, "Dr." Francis X. Bassette, fifty-seven, was fined $100 and sentenced to serve three months in jail. He appealed and furnished bonds.

Bassette recently attracted attention to his practice by claiming that he had a 25-minute cure for appendicitis and that he had discovered a concoction that would cure stomach disorders and spinal affections.

TRAPPER STUMBLES ON LOOT WORTH THOUSANDS

Hanson, May 15.—A local hunter in going the rounds of his traps here happened on a cache containing valuables worth several thousands of dollars. The find is part of a huge haul made by robbers on a cottage at Oldham Pond more than a year ago.

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

TELLS SAFE AND SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

REMARKABLE NON-STOP RUN BY MODEL 90 OVERLAND

By C. F. DONNOCKER.

Covered with mud and dust and with the motor running like a clock, the little model 90 Overland which has been running between Boston and Springfield for the past seven days, pulled up before the local Overland salesrooms of Connell & McKone at just 11:45 a. m. yesterday after having made three round trips a day for a week without stopping the engine.

A regular schedule was laid out between Boston and Springfield and the cars passed the various points designated on scheduled time. Two cars were used, one starting from Springfield and one from Boston with three drivers for each car. It was not a speed contest but one to show the reliability of the car and motor.

ADHERE TO SCHEDULE.

The cars adhered to the following schedule, which shows the various points passed on the route going west:

TIME OF PASSING WEST-BOUND.

Connell & McKone Co.	12.00	8.00	4.00
Norumbega Bridge	.24	.24	.24
Weston Corner	.32	.32	.32
Marlboro Station	1.02	9.02	5.02
Northboro	.15	.15	.15
Top Shrewsbury Hill	.25	.25	.25
White City	.32	.32	.32
Worcester-Packard	.35	.35	.35
Worcester Station	.40	.40	.40
Main and Stafford streets	.51	.51	.51
Leicester Hill	2.01	10.01	6.01
Spencer	.13	.13	.13
Brookfield	.28	.28	.28
West Brookfield	.35	.35	.35
Warren	.42	.42	.42
Palmer	3.09	11.09	7.09
Winchester Square	.40	.40	.40
Willys-Overland at Springfield	.45	.45	.45

If it had been the intention of the Connell-McKone Company to make a record run for speed or even mileage there are any number of routes which might have been chosen which would have produced the desired results, but the road to Springfield is one of the most hilly in this section and forces the cars to negotiate Leicester Hill, the worst hill this side of Albany on this route.

On Friday last, with Gleason driving, the Overland car was obliged to make a long detour of about eight miles between Warren and Palmer, on account of a wreck on the road which blocked the highway for over two hours. In order to make the Boston control on time, Gleason made this detour, driving six miles over an almost impassable road where it was necessary to use his low gear all the way, and he finished only two minutes late at this end.

REMARKABLE DEMONSTRATION.

Even if the weather had been fair all the time the achievement would be remarkable, but it will be remembered that the car had to run for sixty-eight hours through driving rain, over muddy and slippery roads. Fisk tires were used and showed remarkably little wear for the trip, which registered 3,847 miles on one speedometer and 3,852 on the other, the difference being accounted for by the detour which one was obliged to make.

GOOD HILL-CLIMBER.

The car clearly demonstrated its ability as a hill climber and with a clear road one of the cars went over Leicester Hill, a few miles west of Worcester, on high gear with four passengers—and this is some hill.

The average gasoline consumption was 21.5 miles per gallon and 228 miles per gallon of oil. There was no tire change and not a spark plug was replaced or any adjustment made on the carburetor.

The consistency of performance of the two cars is noteworthy. They ran with such clock-like precision through the various towns that the inhabitants began to look for red cars at regular intervals. Out of forty-two controls at Boston the cars averaged less than half a minute from scheduled time, and this was early.

A DELIGHTFUL RIDE.

The writer made one round trip in the car and was very much impressed with the performance. We left Boston at 12 noon, arriving in Springfield at 2:45, and did not start back until 4 a. m. It was a delightful ride, however, and well worth the inconvenience. The car rode easily, negotiated the hills in a way which showed that it had a wonderfully powerful motor and went over the entire route, up hill and down with clock-like precision.

WOMEN'S BABY TALK IS NEW 'MENACE'

Chicago Critic Declares That It Will Ruin American Language

Chicago, May 15.—"American women talk baby talk? Talk! Preposterous," said the little woman with the mild gray eyes, who had seen the world and remained a feminist. She had heard that a mere man, John Nicholas Beffel, art critic and one time publisher of a magazine called Living Man, said 75 per cent. of American women were doing their worst to ruin American speech by talking "baby talk."

The very idea! And more than that, he was going to get up before a group of Bohemians at the Dill Pickle Club to make a speech on the subject. He had said—and would probably say again—that baby talk was "actually a national menace," and all because of women. He had even said that men were "catching the habit," from women.

And he was going to New York immediately to undertake a national campaign for the suppression of baby talk among women. He had recently been elected national president of a society called "The Society for the Suppression of Baby Talk Among Women."

She just wished she could take him around—and show show him the women he talked so easily about. She knew women. She smiled at them with a knowing comraderie this morning. Men! Humph!

"Oh, the pitty love! Ain't um dis' the tutest 'ittle thin'?"

The feminist received a severe shock. She saw before her a woman holding up a blouse—and speaking. She felt faint and left the store. She decided to buy in an exclusive shop where she was "certain of the women." She enjoyed standing next to a tall young girl, whose very accent suggested culture and true feminine poise.

"Isn't this attractive?" the saleswoman was holding up a handsome scarf. The feminist waited for a "certainly" from the girl at her side. She heard instead:

"Mmmm, me like."

Worn and weary, she sought a place of refreshment. As she rose to go her eyes sought those of the cashier with a chastened, world-weary smile. The cashier looked sensible—even hard.

"Oh, thweetie, 'ook, here tomes my dreat big man." It was the cashier whispering to the candy salesgirl. And (horror of horrors) the "dreat big man" bent from his six feet two inches and offered:

"H'lo, cutie; how's little self today?"

"Suppress?" hissed the woman who had been a feminist to herself, "exterminate—destroy!"

COMMITTEE LEADERS FOR HYDE PARK OUTING

Thomas H. Shephard, chairman of the general committee in charge of the annual field day of Magnolia Council No. 89, Knights of Columbus, of Hyde Park, to be held Tuesday, June 17, on the grounds of the American Felt Company on Hyde Park avenue, Hyde Park, has appointed the following chairmen: Joseph F. Lynch, tickets; James J. Downing, chances; Eugene L. Corbett, field; William J. Finn, midway; Francis J. Houston, printing; James A. O'Hearn, lighting; John H. Kilduff, advertising; John D. Rooney, music; F. Peter McGrath, refreshments. Joseph F. Lynch is secretary of the general committee, and Joseph E. Farrell treasurer.

DECLARE CUT IN U. S. NAVY IS TOO BIG

Reduction From 531,282 to 285,000 Considered Too Rapid With Peace in Abeyance

By International News Service.

Washington, May 15.—The demobilization of the navy, which has reduced its war strength from 531,282 to 285,000 men, is looked upon by many officials as too rapid, considering the political situation in Europe.

The lack of funds caused by the failure of navy appropriations, suspension of the construction program which sought to double the old three-year program and other related causes have forced out of commission battleships, cruisers and smaller auxiliaries. Among the first this put out of commission were the battleships Oregon, Massachusetts, Indiana and Iowa—of Spanish-American war.

Should the Germans refuse to sign the peace treaty, General Pershing's first order, it is admitted, will be to stop the sailing of troops from France. The navy then must call a halt on further dismantling.

No official will say the better plan to bring Germany to terms would be to cut off her commerce rather than to have the allies march to Berlin.

If the treaty be not signed, the new Congress must take stock of a grave situation if the United States continues participating in the broils of Europe. The circumstances would make the Republican majority at least an enthusiastic friend of the full navy program. The President was in favor of duplicating the program of Secretary Daniels, who insisted on a new three-year program for ten battleships and six battle cruisers of the dreadnought type.

Secretary Daniels is bringing with him from Europe plans for a new kind of battleship. This type is to replace the battle cruiser type which figured in the pre-war program. It seems certain his plans will do away with building any battle cruisers.

For them will be substituted swift dreadnoughts carrying the maximum calibre, 16-inch guns.

The United States now has thirty-six battleships. Of these, seventeen are the equals of any ships in the world, but Great Britain has three times as many super-dreadnoughts as the United States.

Lenox Farmer Now on His 8th Week of Sleep

Lenox, May 15.—Hosea D. Parker began today his eighth week of continuous sleep. He is afflicted with sleeping sickness. His color is good and he maintains his weight, but is thought to be slightly weaker. If he does not awaken within a few days he may be sent to the Rockefeller Institute at New York for observation.

Dr. H. M. Smith, the family physician, saw the sleeping patient today and administered nourishment hypodermically.

The case has attracted widespread attention, especially among medical men. Mr. Parker is a farmer 50 years old. Seven weeks ago he retired as usual. In the morning he was thought to be sleeping late. Efforts to rouse him failed. He has been in quiet slumber ever since.

POSTPONE JULIA WARD HOWE CENTENARY

The celebration of the centenary of Julia Ward Howe has been postponed from May 23 to a date in the Fall to be announced later. The committee was notified that several speakers would be unable to appear at the earlier date, chief among whom is Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, who has been invited to tour the country with ex-President Taft and President Lowell of Harvard in a campaign of education on the League of Nations.

King George and Queen Mary to Be Invited to American Celebration in London

By International News Service.

London, May 15.—King George and Queen Mary may take part in the American Fourth of July celebration in London this year.

Preparations for the day's observance are being made by patriotic and social organizations, and it has been proposed that a service be held in St. Paul's to which the King and Queen be invited, along with representatives of the various government departments.

Any such ceremony would be in the nature of a peace celebration, with the combined movement to cement the friendship between Great Britain and the United States.

No program has been decided upon as yet, but representatives of the various cities will meet about June 1 to make all arrangements. It has been suggested that each organization, such as the Pilgrim Society, the English-Speaking Union and Anglo-American Society and the American Women's Club, along with other similar organizations, each hold individual celebrations such as picnics, luncheons and banquets, combining for a general meeting some time during the day.

While working on a dredger at the United States Army Base, off Summer street, Harry Paasche, forty-eight years old and single, caught his right hand in a cable pulley, breaking the arm. He was treated at City Hospital.

ARMY PISTOL CHAMPION IN SCHOOL A YEAR AGO

Le Mans, France, May 15.—The new pistol champion of the American Expeditionary Forces in France is Private Orville B. York, Fifth Marines, who was going to high school in Franklin, O., less than a year ago. York had never fired a pistol in his life until he joined the marines after reading about the battle of Chateau Thierry. He won the title on the D'Auvors range against 300 of the army's crack shots, scoring 1,022 out of 1,200 possible shots. Another youngster, Corporal Leland K. Peyton, South Pasadena, Cal., won the rifle title.

STRANAHAN WINS IN HARVARD SPEAKING TEST

Ferrand S. Stranahan of Providence won the Lee Wade speaking prize at Harvard with Frederic Packard of Roslindale second and Arthur Rouner third. The prizes were twenty-five, fifteen and ten dollars. The nine competitors each spoke a selection from the eulogy of Daniel O'Connell by Wendell Phillips. The judges were Dean Pound of the Harvard Law School, Judge Walcott and Rev. Paul R. Frothingham.

ROXBURY GIRL OF 5 YEARS DIES FROM BURNS

Five-year-old Julia Walsh of No. 105 Conant street, Roxbury, is dead at the Peter Brent Brigham Hospital from severe burns about the body. She was playing with matches in front of her home and her dress caught afire. Her mother, Mary Walsh, attracted by the child's screams, ran to her and extinguished the flames. A passing automobilist was hailed and the child taken to the hospital.

AVIATION BALL OF AERO CLUB ON MAY 28

Plans are being completed for an aviation ball, similar to that which took place in New York, by the Aero Club of Massachusetts at the Copley-Plaza on May 28.

The affair, which is to start at 9 o'clock, will last until 4, and will be attended by many prominent members of military, naval and society circles of Boston.

The ball is being given for the purpose of raising funds for a clubhouse to be erected as a memorial to the men from New England who gave their lives in the air service of the United States and her allies.

The Governors of each of the New England States have been invited together with General Clarence R. Edwards with officers of the Northeastern Department, Camp Devens and the First Naval District.

A large number of society women will attend, together with groups from all the colleges and preparatory schools in New England.

The patronesses are headed by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Mrs. Andrew Peters, Mrs. Clarence R. Edwards and Mrs. William R. Rush.

The others include Mrs. R. L. Agassiz, Mrs. Charles Frost Aldrich, Mrs. Charles B. Amory, Mrs. Godfrey L. Cabot, Mrs. Russell Codman, Mrs. J. Randolph Coolidge Jr., Mrs. Louis Curtis, Mrs. Thomas Pelham Curtis, Mrs. G. Richmond Fearing Jr., Mrs. Alan Forbes, Mrs. William A. Gaston, Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Mrs. J. [illegible] Lavalle, Mrs. A. Lawrence Lowell, Mrs. Arthur J. Richmond, Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Mrs. Charles G. Weld, Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Mrs. Frederick S. Whitwell and Mrs. J. Bertram Williams.

It is expected that members of theatrical companies playing this city will furnish entertainment and Loew's and Johnson's orchestras have been secured. The ball will take place in the large and small ballrooms of the hotel and the state suite. There are 300 members at present in the club and it is hoped that this number will be swelled to 800 by the end of the month. A number of the members are already organizing commercial aircraft companies.

The committee for the club includes John G. Hutchinson, G. Harold Madsen, Seymour Soule, G. Richmond Fearing Jr., Robert F. Raymond Jr., John Lavalle, Arthur L. Richmond, James Knowles, Bryant Wood, Potter Trainer, Edward R. Hastings, Jr., Charles R. [illegible], Laurence Curtis, [illegible] W. Shedd and Frank A. Andersen.

LITTLE CAR RUNS AMUCK; GETS INTO TWO CRASHES

Worcester, May 15.—A wild Ford from Pawtucket ran amuck in Boylston twice in the same day, the first time smashing a buggy in which three children were riding, and later leaving the road, knocking down a fence, carrying away a stone post and sliding down the bank into a ravine. The Ford owner, Harold Hammel, then called it a day and took a train for home.

Gems as Necessary as Gowns, Says Society Heiress

New York, May 15.—Mrs. Harriet Pullman Carolan, San Francisco and New York society woman and one of the heirs to the estate of George Pullman, made a [illegible] against the St. Regis Hotel for $30,000, in which she alleges that jewelry worth that sum was stolen from her on the night of December 18, 1918, while she was a guest.

Mrs. Carolan said the jewels were as necessary to a woman of her social position as her gowns and she was [illegible] them about [illegible] of depositing [illegible].

TOOTED A TOOTH, FORSOOTH, SAYS THE 'COOTIE'

The "Cootie" tells how Musician Matson of the 9th Infantry (regulars) nearly wrecked a band rehearsal [illegible] Dierdorf, Germany, [illegible] tooth into his [illegible] was 'A. W. O. L.'

The Cootie is [illegible] of the 9th Infantry of the [illegible] division, now with the United States Army of Occupation.

The editors explain that the publication is named the 'Cootie' because it is 'the closest thing to a soldier and strikes unawares and irrespective of rank.'

The story of the mischief made by Matson's trombone tooth is printed in a copy of the Cootie just received at the Boston American office. It reads thus:

Really the funniest thing that has occurred in a musical way since the year of the big wind happened the other day when Musician Matson blew his front tooth into his trombone.

It was during a rehearsal that Band Leader Doucette noticed a very unmusical sound emanating from somewhere within the ensemble. He couldn't think that any instrument made could produce such a roaring, rumbling wheeze as then assailed his ears. By eliminating first the cornets, then the [illegible], clarinets and so on he finally found that the trombone section was bothering the thing [illegible].

Matson, the first trombonist, grinned. The rest of the band noticed the vacancy in his mouth. Then and not until then Matson felt that something was missing. He turned and shook his horn, and out slid the missing tooth. The mystery was solved: the tooth in the slide of the trombone had produced this new and horrible sound. The best of it is the only confession he would plead guilty to was that something sounded like h—l.

To Make the Summer Home Attractive

—is not the amount of money one spends, but rather how one spends it.

It is knowing in advance the effect desired that makes one's home attractive when completed.

As to the first suggestion, regard the Day Bed, illustrated, as an example of smart yet inexpensive furniture for summer homes; the price complete, finished in any color, upholstered in cretonne, with one pillow, being $45.

As to the second suggestion, Paine's decorators, by means of colored sketches or by assembling the furniture, rugs and draperies, will visualize one's Summer home and thus assure highest satisfaction.

CITY TO SPEND $5,000,000 ON STREETS

Main Highways Will Get First Attention in Big 1919 Repair Plan

Boston will spend approximately $5,000,000 in street construction and repair this year. For the past few years the roads and streets of the city have been in very bad condition and the fact that extensive repairs are under way gratify citizens in every section of the city.

Appropriations for street construction have been very small in the past years and this year a large item calling for street repairs is due to this fact.

WAR DELAYED WORK.

One of the things to which Mayor Peters' administration was pledged was the putting of the principal highways of the city in proper condition. Because of the financial situation, it was necessary to go to the Legislature for an increase in the tax limit. Of the $3 increase in the tax limit approved by the Legislature it was provided that $1 should be appropriated for streets.

This $1 meant an appropriation of about $1,41[illegible],761 to be used for the improvement of the principal highways of the city under contract, and in addition to that the sum of $818,819.20 was provided under the regular appropriation for streets. This bill took effect [illegible] 1918.

NEED ANOTHER MILLION.

Contracts were immediately let for this work but the work itself was delayed because of the action of the national government in restricting the use of certain necessary materials with the result that for about four months much of the contemplated work had to be held in abeyance. In November, 1918, the ban was lifted and much of the work has been finished since that time. The remainder is at the present time being pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

It has also been necessary to go to the Legislature this year for a $1 increase in the tax limit and this bill is now before [illegible]. It is contemplated that [illegible] cents of the tax rate will [illegible] be appropriated for streets, allowing the expenditure of about $1,[illegible] for this purpose.

The [illegible] of development has been that the [illegible] neighborhood streets [illegible] out of the principal arteries of communication of the city.

Ottawa, May 15.—In the course of the debate in the Canadian House of Commons on the bill for the appropriation of $350,000,000 for demobilization and other purposes connected with the termination of the war, Sir Thomas White, the acting Premier, stated that the net debt of the Dominion of Canada was now $1,584,000,000, while prior to the war it was $235,000,000, showing an increase in the national debt of $1,348,000,000.

PUPILS ARE URGED TO STAY IN SCHOOL

Houston, May 15.—A "stay in school" campaign has been launched in Houston with the object of inducing boys and girls to remain in school until they complete their education instead of quitting to go to work as soon as they are able to earn a working wage.

A pamphlet has been printed, entitled, "Stay in School, Education Pays," which is being distributed among the pupils of all the schools of the city.

Petition to the Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy to send Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Home with Six Months' Pay

Sign this petition, get your friends to sign it, and forward it to the Boston American, 80 Summer st., Boston, Mass.

To the Honorable Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War:
To the Honorable Josephus Daniels Secretary of the Navy:

The undersigned respectfully urge you to return to their homes as soon as possible the soldiers, sailors and marines who have accomplished so brilliantly every object America had in the war.

We urge also that you obtain the necessary authority to pay these men their military wages for six months, or for some sufficient period after their discharge from the army until they can obtain useful and remunerative employment.

We urge this as an act of simple justice by a great nation to its heroes.

(Signed

Ask the Man who Picks Men!

Would you want to look like some of the pictures you see in some men's clothing advertising?

That type of clothing doesn't get a man very far in big business. Look around and see if this isn't so.

And this clothing is apt to be doubly expensive. What you get in so-called "style" you lose in wearing quality.

Extreme style is a poor substitute for wool.

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

BIG FIGHT TO DRAW $400,000

That's Tex Rickard's Estimate of the July 4 Toledo House—Lists His Expenses

By JACK VEIOCK,

Sports Editor of the International News Service.

New York, May 15.—New York fight experts and fans are busy with pencil and paper trying to figure out how Tex Rickard expects to make any money on the Willard-Dempsey bout at Toledo, Ohio, on the afternoon of July 4.

But Tex wears a smile of confidence and is prepared to show the inquisitive ones just how it can be done.

Rickard's approximate expense account runs something like this:

Willard, $100,000; Dempsey, $27,500; Federal tax, 10 per cent. of gross receipts; Toledo Boxing Commission, for charity, [illegible] per cent. of gross receipts; grand stand, $50,000; other expenses, 25,000.

BUSH DOWN TO MAKE HIS '19 BOW TODAY

"Bullet Joe" First Choice to Face White Sox, With Jones Next in Line

Chicago, May 15.—Bullet Joe Bush was scheduled to clamper on the firing line at Comiskey Park this afternoon, in his maiden pitching assignment of the season, according to advance dope wafted from Red Sox headquarters at the Hotel Metropole early today.

The former Mackman, always an effective workman against the White Sox, has been out of commission all Spring owing to a kink in his salary arm, but he warmed up in stylish fashion yesterday and announced he was rearing to go.

Bush was to draw for his hurling rival, Claude Williams, the best southpaw on Kid Gleason's staff. Williams has performed in five battles thus far this season and been returned a winner four times.

JACKSON BUSTS IT UP.

The World's Champions were fighting mad after losing the opener, 1 to 0, and out to even up the set. Both Carl Mays and Eddie Cicotte, who fought it out yesterday, were in great trim and base hits were few and far between.

Honors were nip and tuck during the first five rounds with Mays yielding only two blows as against one surrendered by his grizzled adversary.

It looked like the two teams might battle on indefinitely, for the fielding was par excellence, and neither exhibited signs of weakening until, with two gone in the sixth, Jack Barry kicked a slow grounder from Eddie Collins, and the latter, though running with one leg all bound up in tape to protect a misplaced tendon, managed to beat the throw of his former side partner to McInnis.

ONE TALLY PLENTY.

Then, on the hit-and-run sign Collins streaked for second just as Joe Jackson busted a terrific liner to deep centre for two bases. That smash decided the game, for it put Collins over the plate and Cicotte, once in possession of a tally, was unhitable in the remaining stanzas.

In the sixth the Red Sox had runners on third and second without any demises. But Mays, Hooper and Barry popped up the ball.

The Red Sox presented their strongest battle front with the return of Wallie Schang to active duty behind the plate. Wallie celebrated his return to the fold by peeling off two of the four hits gathered by the Back Bay troupers.

Baseball News and Notes

Hugh McQuillan, the Worcester youngster, has become the property of the Braves. They closed their option when Manager Stallings declared that Hugh had more form and stuff than Jeff Barnes owned when he joined the Tribe.

It's more than likely that Jim Thorpe will be a Brave within a week or two. Also that Davey Robertson will come here when the trading fever dies down.

Manager Stallings and Owner Grant have deserted the Copley Plaza and are now bivouacking at the Somerset. That will be headquarters until the pair get apartments for their families here.

Jean Dubuc is proving that his age wasn't exactly a handicap. He beat the champion Cubs, and let them down with four hits, incidentally tacking a defeat on Jim Vaughn.

The Dodgers are showing every day that their early spurt wasn't just a flash. Grimes scored another shutout over the Reds and secured first place for another day.

Doc Ayers tossed his first game for the Senators and Cleveland won, 11-2. Sergeant Jimmy Bagby finally scored a win.

Litle Herbie Thormahlen keeps on proving that he's a great southpaw. He beat Ehmke, 1-0, and held the swatting Tigers to four blows. His win put the Yanks second and sent the Red Sox down to fourth place.

Chapman poled out the Fohls' first home run of the season while Senators Ayers and Craft were being bombarded.

Here's how the Yankees got the run that settled the 1-0 combat between Thormahlen and Ehmke. Duffy Lewis reached first on Bush's fumble, took third on Bodie's single and scored on Ruel's infield out.

Last Spring when Joe Jackson jumped to a shipyard, instead of responding to the draft, many fans said Joe wouldn't dare show his face on the big league circuit again.

If we recall right, Charley Comiskey, White Sox boss, said Joe would never be seen in a Chicago uniform again. But this is what happened to Joe in his very first game in Chicago.

The Joe Jackson Boosters Club, made up of South Side fans, with a big banner showing their allegiance to Shoeless Joseph hired a band in honor of the Carolinian's return and occupied a conspicuous place in the grandstand.

When Joe appeared at the plate in the first inning the chairman of the reception committee said some nice things about Jackson and pushed a gold watch [illegible] band.

Shoeless Joe is now a bigger hero than ever with Chicago fandom. It was his ringing double off Mays that busted up the first combat for the Red Sox.

Boxing News and Notes

Mike Criss has received clippings from the Milwaukee Journal which give Johnny Dundee credit with having outscored Ritchie Mitchell in their recent ten-round bout in that city. Portland promoters are trying to land a contest between Dundee and Frankie (Young) Britt.

Jim McDonald announces he has added Battling McCreary to his list of warriors. This dusky 165-pounder is matched to battle Cleve Hawkins at Pittsfield, May 22.

McDonald is also prepared to sign Dan McCormick for a fight with any of the local lightweights. Charley Parker and Harry Carlson are two young men McCormack feels confident he can defeat.

Charley Mitchell, clever Braintree boxer, who is under the management of Ruben Morse, will be pitted against Freddie Madden in the semi-final bout of eight rounds at the Fenway A. A. show next Monday night.

Freddie Yelle of Taunton and George Alger of Cambridge will meet in the feature bout of twelve rounds at the Marlboro Driving Club tomorrow night. The rest of the card follows: Mike Donnelly vs. Al Kalzone, six rounds; Kid Wolgast vs. Young Dundee, six rounds; Freddie Welsh vs. Jack Moore, six rounds, and Young Donico vs. Kid Brennan, six rounds.

Al Shubert, New Bedford ring star, and Louisiana will clash in the feature tussle of twelve frames at the Crescent A. C. of Lowell, tonight.

The contest between Walter Butler of Revere and Chick West of Holyoke, which was carded to be decided at Lynn tonight has been called off on account of the city's celebration in honor of its returning war heroes.

Johnny Downes of South Boston, announces he has started training and will soon be fit to meet all comers at 133 pounds.

Philadelphia fans will witness their first open air show at Shibe Park June 4. Phil Glassman has signed Lew Tendler to mix it up with George Chaney in the main bout. The semi-final will bring together Willie Jackson of New York and Matt Brock of Cleveland.

NEW PITCHERS SEEK FAME IN MAJORS

Development of Youngsters May Be Deciding Factor in Flag Battles

Pitching "aces" will be the most dominant factors in the pennant races in the majors this season. The development of promising young mound talent will determine to a large extent the ultimate ranking of several of the various pennant contenders. Pitching, always a deciding factor, never before in the history of the national pastime, calls for such consideration as it does this year.

The Chicago White Sox have uncovered in Dick Kerr and Lefty Sullivan, two likely looking southpaws, who, according to Kid Gleason, may solve this pitching problem, a problem which has arisen because of the uncertainty of Faber, Russell and Benz.

The New York Giants are said to have uncovered a real pitching phenom in Winters. Winters' performances against the Red Sox during the exhibition series gave every indication of big league calibre.

Over at Cleveland, George Uhle, a Cleveland sand-lotter, has attracted more than passing attention by his stellar work, while Walter Kinney is Connie Mack's "dark horse," and on his showing to date gives evidence of being a fit running mate for "Rope" Perry, Mack's best bet.

These are the most promising of the "rookie" twirlers whose work has attracted the most favorable comments. Their development along with the work of the "aces" of the various staffs are the factors that the dopesters will keep tabs on closely as the races progress.

In the National League the Cubs have Alexander, the Dodgers, Cadore; the Pirates, Hamilton; the Cardinals, Goodwin; the Phillies, Rixey, the Braves, Rudolph; Cincinnati, Sallee and the Giants, Toney.

In the American Leagu the White Sox have Cicotte, the Tigers, Ehmke, the Indians, Bagby; the Browns, Davenport; the Senators, Johnson; the Yankees, Thormalen; the Athletics, Perry, and the Red Sox, Ruth, Mays, Jones, Bush and Caldwell—all great pitchers.

The blending of these "aces" with the development of the youngsters and the working in of the efforts of steady winners of the various clubs, who may not have as great a reputation as the "aces" is food for considerable study among the dopesters.

The pitching talent for the 1919 season gives every indication as a whole of possessing more quality as well as quantity in several years gone by. This feature may upset all the doping that has previously been done on the two races.

YOUNG EDDY STOPPED BY DE FOE IN SIXTH

Providence, May 15.—Billy De Foe of St. Paul, knocked out Young Eddy of Boston, in the sixth round at the National A. C., Marieville. Eddy never had a chance. He was sent to the mat in the second and from then on took a terrific lacing. Mickey Devine of Providence got the decision over Harry Ah Chung, Salem Chinaman, in a ten-round semi-final.

VETERANS BLAME THE UMPIRES FOR BASEBALL SLUMP

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Many veterans of baseball declare that one of the chief reasons for the decline in interest in baseball during the last ten years has been the umpires.

They claim that, armed with arbitrary powers, the umpires have squelched and suppressed the players until they are afraid to open their mouths for fear of being expelled from the games.

The sudden revival in interest in the game this Spring has been due to two things: First, the fact that the people, reacting from the war, are at the height of hope and the seeking of fun and excitement.

That reason brought the fans back to the [illegible] but the thing that is keeping them coming is the fact that the players seem filled with the same spirit of hope and are fighting and working harder to win games than they have done since the days when the Cubs, Giants, Pirates, White Sox, Detroit and Boston [illegible] so desperately for championships a decade ago.

The danger now is twofold. First, that the players, in their anxiety to win, will go too far with their batting, and secondly, that the umpires will take all the life out of the game by suppressing the players.

I think the crowds love to see the men in earnest, to see them protest vigorously when they think a mistake is made. They do not want rowdyism or ragging at umpires, nor do they want their teams weakened by the arbitrary expulsion of valuable players.

Here is a case in point. Last week Heine Zimmerman and Bill Klem had a [illegible] on the Polo Grounds. Klem accused Zim of trying to show him up to the crowd and warned Zim to cease. Zim persisted and yelled that he would "show up" the umpire. He nagged until Klem chased him off the lot, and Klem was right. Zim really compelled the umpire to put him out of the game.

But a few days later they clashed again in Brooklyn before a big crowd. Zim made a [illegible] [illegible] on a strike which [illegible] had been [illegible] and Klem promptly ordered him out of the game. Fletcher [illegible] [illegible] had a mix-up with the umpire, claiming that Klem had acted arbitrarily.

It looks almost as though Klem, armed with arbitrary power, intends to suppress Zim entirely. If Zim were smart he never would look at Klem or speak to him, but he is too hot headed for that. It is a feud and either one is likely to carry it too far.

In the old feud between Klem and Johnny Evers the same condition arose. Klem was determined to break Evers' spirit. He put him off the field at the slightest move. To break Evers' spirit would have meant to ruin a great ball player. Besides, it could not be done. When two stubborn men meet it is time for the head of a league to step in and arbitrate.

Walter Johnson pitched a remarkable game last Sunday on the Polo Grounds. He held the hard hitting Yankees to two hits in twelve innings, only allowed three runners to reach first base, and between the first and the tenth innings retired twenty-eight batters in succession, not one hitting the ball hard enough even to warm up the infielders. Besides that it was a bitterly cold day, which makes the performance the more remarkable.

That evening I talked to some of the Yankees about Johnson. "Well, if Walter has gone back I hope he don't go any further," one remarked. "If he goes back any further no one in this league will get a foul off him."

Sam Agnew, the catcher, who has studied Johnson frequently from the viewpoint of the batter and now from that of the catcher, says:

"He seems to have just as much speed as ever. If he has slowed down any I'm glad to have worked somewhere else when he was fast. He puts something on every ball and he knows how to pitch to batters. On days when he is a trifle wild he is at his best, because then the batters do not crowd the plate much.

"When he has perfect control they are not afraid of being hit and stand up better and [illegible] [illegible]. They [illegible] about the speed [illegible] [illegible] times [illegible] [illegible] have to be [illegible].

"He is a wonderful fellow to work with. Some people think he is a great pitcher only because of his speed, but he uses his head all the time."

CORBETT'S COLUMN

This is the seventh of a series of articles which Mr. Corbett is writing concerning the pugilistic career of Jake Kilrain, one of the greatest heavyweights that America—or any other country—ever produced.

In the Summer of 1887 Jake Kilrain became the technical heavyweight champion of America. But no one in this country paid much attention to his claims and John L. continued to be recognized as the king-pin pugilist in the United States.

Kilrain's title was acquired in this way:

Through Richard K. Fox, his backer, Kilrain challenged John L. to a finish bout for the American title, a $5,000 side bet and a diamond studded belt, emblematic of the championship.

The belt was a donation from Fox. To show the sincerity of Kilrain's challenge, Fox posted $1,000 as forfeit money. Sullivan was invited to do likewise.

John L. paid no attention to the matter and, after waiting a certain length of time, Fox withdrew the $1,000 and proclaimed through his paper that Sullivan had forfeited title and that Kilrain was the real heavyweight champion of America.

In an attempt to make Kilrain's claim all the stronger, Fox, through a representative, presented the diamond belt to Kilrain in Baltimore with elaborate ceremonies.

SMITH CHALLENGE ACCEPTED

The news that Kilrain had won the heavyweight title of America by forfeit travelled quickly to England. Almost immediately afterwards came the challenge from Jem Smith, the English title holder, who had tried various ways to lure John L. into battle in an effort to decide the heavyweight supremacy of the world.

Fox was mightily pleased. Having [illegible] confidence in Kilrain's ability, he figured that Jake would whip the Briton and [illegible] [illegible] and that by such a triumph the American public would recognize Kilrain's superiority to Sullivan.

[illegible]

[illegible]

RULES SAVED SMITH

Kilrain sailed for Europe in the Fall of 1887. His departure [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] arrival in England created [illegible] [illegible] ring circles. Interest in the match [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] great on both continents.

Kilrain and Smith met in their great battle on December 19, 1887, at St. Pierre, France, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] rounds [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] height [illegible] weighed [illegible] and reach, but Smith excelled [illegible] [illegible] clever ring trickery. He was one of the smartest fighters of the bygone days and over and [illegible] Kilrain's advantage in bulk in the early rounds by outgeneraling [illegible] the powerful Jake.

But eventually Kilrain got [illegible] [illegible] way and after thirty rounds [illegible] [illegible] Smith was on a [illegible] [illegible].

[illegible] was that the bare knuckle [illegible] advantage of the London prize ring rules [illegible] saving [illegible] from a knockout.

In a fight under Marquis of Queensbury rules, Kilrain undoubtedly would have finished Smith in a short time because Smith would have been compelled to stand up and take all Jake could hand him during the three minute sessions.

But with bare-knuckle rules governing, Smith, after being battered by Kilrain in toe to toe fighting, played safe.

He would flop to the turf every time Jake got him in a dangerous place. Then the round would end and Smith would get a thirty second rest.

REFUSED TO CONTINUE BOUT

Coming out for the next, Smith would drop again as soon as [illegible] touched him. In that way Smith prolonged the battle into 106 rounds and escaped a knockout at the hands of Kilrain.

Stories as to the wind-up of the contest differ. But the one which is included in Kilrain's record is that after 106 rounds had been fought darkness came on and the fight was stopped and hostilities were [illegible] the fight to be renewed the next day.

However, the next morning [illegible] reporting at the battle ground in ring toggery, Kilrain and [illegible] talked things over, decided not to go ahead with the fight and agreed to call it a draw.

The referee tried to influence the men to continue, but they [illegible] him.

And so ended the battle with the championship at stake [illegible] [illegible] disappointing [illegible] [illegible] throughout the world.

The Love Gambler

A NEW SERIAL BY A FAMOUS WRITER

David Finds a Place as Chauffeur With a Family Once the Friends of His Aunt

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

CHAPTER II.

Copyright, 1919, by Star Company

IT was not strange that, reviewing the circumstances already cited, David Delaine was depressed.

The trip to and from Baltimore had taken some of his money. A much needed suit of civilian clothes had [illegible]. After he had paid a week's advance rent on his room, he had just $[illegible] in his pocket.

"Something's got to be done and pretty quick, too," he muttered.

He had been to several employment agencies, but the fact that he must have outdoor work made it difficult for him to secure a situation. Of course there was labor on a farm, but David Delaine had never lived in the country and knew nothing about farming or gardening. As to heavy work, that was out of the question just yet.

"There is only one thing I can do," he muttered, "and that is drive a car. It would be somewhat of a comedown to be a chauffeur, but it looks as if that's the thing for me. I suppose I might drive a brewer's truck."

He smiled ironically and picked up the paper he had bought when he went out to the corner for his breakfast.

He turned to the Help Wanted columns and was glancing through them casually when a name caught his eye.

"Leighton," he read aloud. "Samuel Leighton. And he wants an experienced and trustworthy chauffeur. I wonder if by any chance he is any relation to the dame that Aunt Jeanne wanted to tie fast to me? Wouldn't it be funny if it was! I declare," with a laugh, "I'm going downtown to see this man. It will have the spice of adventure anyway.

"Of course I've no [illegible] to the poor girl who, if she ever heard of me, hates me as much as I detest the thought of her. But I certainly am an experienced chauffeur, and that is what this bird wants. As to being trustworthy—well, I hope I'm that, too."

An hour later he was facing Samuel Leighton in his downtown office.

In a Quandary

"I must be careful about the kind of man I engage," Leighton was saying. "I want one who can drive my daughter, and as she is the only woman in the family—I mean she has no mother—she must go about a great deal alone. You can, of course, furnish good references?"

David Delaine felt the blood rush to his face. He suspected now that this was Desiree Leighton's father. If so, Delaine must not reveal his identity. Such being the case, he could not ask any of his acquaintances for references, for none would give him one if he used an assumed name.

Then he thought suddenly of an elderly man who had been a dear friend of his father's. He lived in South Carolina. Perhaps if David wrote to him, telling him that he wished to remain unknown, as he was obliged to take a position as a chauffeur, Mr. Carey might consent to write a letter recommending him.

"You can, of course, give me good references."

Mr. Leighton was repeating his question.

"I—I—I am afraid not—I mean—perhaps the one I could give you would not suit you," the young man stammered.

"Why not?"

"Because it would come from a distance—from South Carolina—and you might want one from somebody in New York. So perhaps I would best not take more of your time."

He rose, eager to get away, but Mr. Leighton detained him. He was unaccountably attracted to this young man. He was good looking and had honest blue eyes. It would be too bad if he could not furnish satisfactory references. He was just the kind of a chap that he wanted—so far as appearances went. Leighton felt that this fellow could be trusted with his handsome cars and with his pretty daughter.

"But why," the older man asked, "must you send so far? Are you not a New Yorker?"

"No, indeed, sir—I am from the South," Delaine replied.

He remembered, with a throb of relief, that he had been born in North Carolina. He need not mention that he had lived in Baltimore.

Leighton Is Impressed

"Oh, you were born in the South?"

"Yes, sir—in North Carolina. My people are dead now. I was an only child, but this friend of my father's down South knows about me. You see," he added, "I have been away for some time—overseas. Many of my friends are there, too."

"And you were wounded? Tell me about it."

Modestly, and with much trepidation, David related as briefly as possible the story of his wound and recovery. He did not tell that he was an educated gentleman. He hoped to conceal that fact from his would-be employer. And to produce an impression of inferiority he put as many "sirs" as practicable into his replies.

"I'm afraid, sir, that you would better get someone else," he said at last. "You see, you say you want a chauffeur at once. It would be some days before I could get my references, for I would have to write for them."

"Why didn't you send for them before?"

"I did not think of it, sir," was the frank response. "It was very stupid of me."

"Well, maybe it was. But I think I'll give you a trial. Meantime, write for your recommendations. Or, better still, give me the address of the person to whom you are sending for them, and I will have my stenographer take down a letter [illegible]. [illegible] to-morrow [illegible] for the few days [illegible] address [illegible] card. Report there [illegible] name?" [illegible] rather [illegible]. Strange that I never thought to ask you for it before. Which but shows [illegible] business [illegible] can be. What is your name?"

The Best Way To Use Rouge

The specialist who created the wonderful La-may Face Powder has invented a new rouge. The rouge is inside the puff. All you do is to rub the puff on your face. It comes through the puff just as you need it. It goes on splendidly and stays on the face until you wash it off. The puff is in a dainty metal box. The box cannot break and the rouge will not crumble like the old-fashioned kind. This newly invented rouge is called La-may (French, Rouge L'Ame). It gives a beautiful color that looks natural under the strongest light. There are two colors—medium and dark. The fifty-cent package will last six months, yet the box is small enough to fit your purse. When you use this pure, harmless Rouge and see how much more convenient it is and how much better it stays on, you will understand why thousands of women say it is the best they have ever used. Because La-may Rouge is so new, your dealer may not have it yet, but he can easily get it. If your dealer refuses to get you a package, you may order by mail from Herbert Roystone, 16 E. 18th St., New York. Save this notice.

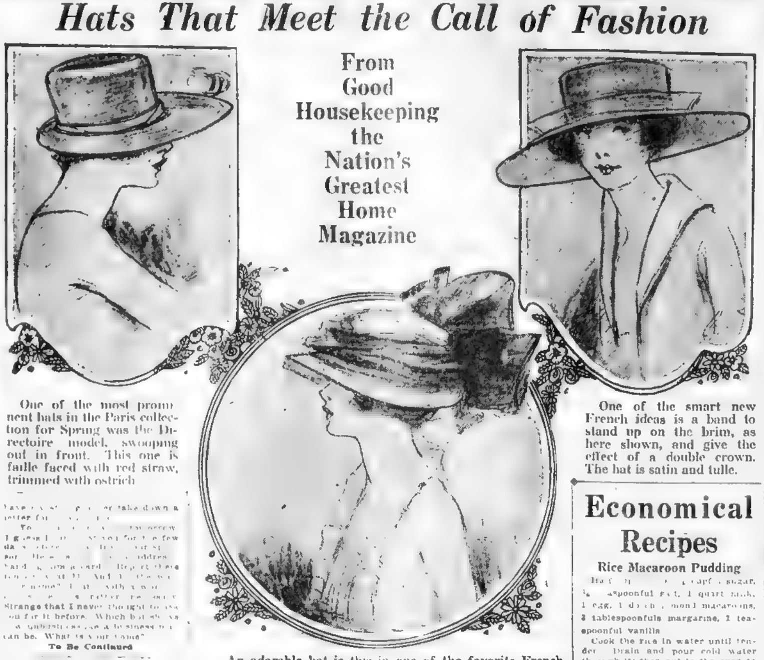
Hats That Meet the Call of Fashion

From Good Housekeeping the Nation's Greatest Home Magazine



One of the most prominent hats in the Paris collection for Spring was the Directoire model, swooping out in front. This one is faille faced with red straw, trimmed with ostrich.

One of the smart new French ideas is a band to stand up on the brim, as here shown, and give the effect of a double crown. The hat is satin and tulle.

An adorable hat is this in one of the favorite French shapes, drooping at the sides, pinched up narrow in front, and tilting at the back. It is made of light ecru straw with a veiling and big bow of bright blue tulle. According to rule, it hides the eyes entirely.

Economical Recipes

Rice Macaroon Pudding

Half cupful rice, [illegible] cupful sugar, ¼ teaspoonful salt, 1 quart milk, 1 egg, 1 dozen almond macaroons, 2 tablespoonfuls margarine, 1 teaspoonful vanilla.

Cook the rice in water until tender. Drain and pour cold water through it; then put in the oven to dry. Put the milk on in a double-boiler, heat, add salt, sugar and rice and cook until somewhat thickened. Then put in a greased baking-dish with the margarine and vanilla. Bake one-half hour, then put the macaroons on top, beat the egg and pour over all. Bake one hour longer slowly. If the macaroons are very small more than one dozen may be required. Use enough to cover the top of the pudding dish.

Baked Bananas

Half cupful sugar, 1 tablespoonful cornstarch, ½ teaspoonful salt, 6 bananas, 1 cupful [illegible] water, 2 tablespoonfuls [illegible] spoonfuls grape jelly [illegible] cupful [illegible] crumbs.

Mix together the sugar, cornstarch and salt. Stir [illegible] this mixture the boiling water, and cook until free from any raw taste. Add the lemon juice [illegible] any tart jelly. [illegible] a baking dish with margarine. Remove the skins from the bananas, cut them in two halves lengthwise, then [illegible] crosswise. Put the cut bananas into the baking dish and pour the sauce over them. Cover the top with crumbs and bake until the bananas are soft and the crumbs are brown.

Encouraging

Young lawyer, having passed his examinations—"Well, I'm glad it's over! I've been working to death the last few years trying to complete my legal education."

Old Lawyer—"Well, cheer up, my boy. It'll be a long time before you have any more work to do."

The Dark Star

THRILLING ROMANCE OF AN AMERICAN GIRL

One of the Latest and Most Heart Stirring Novels From This Famous Author's Pen

ALL, as he looked on at it over the bandage which closed his mouth, had seemed unreal, impersonal, even when his forced attitude had caused him inconvenience and finally pain.

But now, with the light extinguished and the closing of the door behind Golden Beard and Ali Baba, he experienced a shock which began to awaken him to the almost incredible and instant reality of things.

It actually began to look as though these story-book conspirators, these hirelings of a foreign government who had not been convincing because they were too obvious, too well done—actually intended to expose him to serious injury.

In spite of their sinister intentions in regard to him, in spite of their attempts to harm him, he had not, so far, been able to take them seriously or even to reconcile them and their behaviour with the commonplaces of the twentieth century in which he lived.

But now, in the darkness, with the clock on the washstand shelf ticking steadily, he began to take the matter very seriously. The gag in his mouth hurt him cruelly; the bands of linen that held it in began to stifle him so that his breath came in quick gasps through his nostrils, sweat started at the roots of his hair, his heart leaped, beat madly, stood still, and leaped again, and he threw himself against the straps that held him and twisted and writhed with all his strength.

Suddenly fear pierced him like a poignard; for a moment panic seized him and chaos reigned in his bursting brain. He swayed and strained convulsively; he strove to hurl all the inward and inert reserve of strength against the bonds that held him.

After what seemed an age of terrible effort he found himself breathing fast and heavily as though his lungs would burst through his straining, dilating nostrils, seated exactly as he had been without a band loosened, and the icy sweat pouring over his twitching face.

He heard himself trying to shout—heard the imprisoned groan shattered in his own throat, dying there within him.

Suddenly a key rattled, the door was torn open, the light switched on. Golden Beard stood there, his blue eyes glaring furious inquiry. He gave one glance around the room, caught sight of the clock, recoiled, shut off the light again, and slammed and locked the door.

Last Three Minutes

But in that instant Neeland's eyes had seen the clock. The fixed hands on one of the dials still pointed to 2:13; the moving hands on the other lacked three minutes of that hour.

And seated there in the pitch darkness he suddenly realized that he [illegible] three minutes more of life on earth.

All panic was gone; his mind was quite clear. He heard every tick of the clock and knew what each one meant.

Also he heard a sudden sound across the room, as though outside the port something was rustling against the ship's side.

Suddenly there came a click and the room sprang into full light, an arm, entering the open port from the darkness outside, let go the electric button, was withdrawn, only to reappear immediately clutching an automatic pistol! And the next instant the arm and the head of Ilse Dumont were thrust through the port into the room.

Her face was pale as death as her eyes fell on the dial of the clock. With a gasp she stretched out her arm and fired straight at the clock, shattering both dials and knocking the timepiece into the washbasin below.

For a moment she struggled to force her other shoulder and her body through the port, but it was too narrow. Then she called across to the bound figure seated on the bed and staring at her with eyes that fairly started from their sockets:

"Mr. Neeland, can't you move? Try! Try to break loose——"

Her voice died away in a whisper as a flash of bluish flame broke out close to the ceiling overhead, where the three bombs were slung.

"Oh, God!" she faltered. "The fuses are afire!"

Her Brain Reeled

For an instant her brain reeled; she instinctively recoiled as though to fling herself out into the darkness. Then, in a second, her extended arm grew rigid, slanted upward, the pistol exploded once, twice, the third time; the lighted bombs in their sling, released by the severed rope, fell to the bed, the fuses sputtering and fizzling.

Instantly the girl fired again at the big jug of water on the bracket over the head of the bed; a deluge drenched the bed underneath; two fuses were out; one still snapped and glimmered and sent up little jets and rings of vapor; but as the water soaked into the match, the cinder slowly died until the last spark fell from the charred wet end and went out on the drenched blanket.

She waited a little longer, then with an indescribable look at the helpless man below, she withdrew her head, pushed herself free, hung to the invisible rope ladder for a moment, swaying against the open port. His eyes were fastened on her where she dangled there against the darkness betwixt sky and sea, oscillating with the movement of the ship, her pendant figure now gilded by the light from the room, now phantom dim as she swung outward.

As the roll of the ship brought her head to the level of the port once more she held up her pistol, shook it and laughed at him.

"Now do you believe that I can shoot?" she called out. "Answer me some time when that mocking tongue of yours is free!"

Then, climbing slowly upward into darkness, the light, falling now across her body, now athwart her skirt, gilded at last the heels of her shoes; suddenly she was gone, then stars glittered through the meshes of the shadowy, twitching ladder which still barred the open port. And finally the ladder was pulled upward out of sight.

He waited. After a little while—an interminable interval to him—he heard somebody stealthily trying the handle of the door; then came a pause, silence, followed by a metallic noise as though the lock were being explored or picked.

The Right Laxative For The Little Ones—

The natural condition of a child is to be happy and carefree. When the girl mopes and is indifferent to school and study, or the boy is sullen and refuses to go out and play, the child needs a laxative to empty the bowels and stir up the liver.

But something should be given that will produce the result in as simple and natural a way as possible. Harsh cathartics and physics are neither necessary nor desirable.

Many mothers have found that the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin produces a free movement of the bowels without griping. A very little is required, and it is pleasant to take. A few hours after its use the child will be its happy self again.

It is an excellent remedy for the mother herself, and for the other members of the family, in obstinate or occasional constipation, for the relief of headaches, as an aid in colds and fevers, minor skin eruptions and all disorders where the basis of the trouble is constipation.

The druggist will refund the money you pay for Syrup Pepsin if it fails to do as promised.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN The Perfect Laxative

PRICE AS ALWAYS

In spite of greatly increased laboratory costs due to the War, by sacrificing profits and absorbing war taxes we have maintained the price at which this family laxative has been sold by druggists for the past 6 years. Two sizes—50c and $1.00.

STEEL ISSUES EARLY LEADERS.

Attention was focussed upon U. S. Steel and other leading steel issues at the opening, and they responded to public interest by making gains. The calling for bids to furnish the government with rails is expected not only to make business for mills, but establish through competition the price stabilization, which the industrial board vainly sought. Buying by ordinary consumers is expected to increase at once. An increase in building operations is looked for. Contracts let for the week ending May 2 east of the Missouri and north of the Ohio Rivers totalled $47,259,230; in the New York district they aggregated $7,963,196; in the Philadelphia district $12,447,019, and in the Boston district they amounted to $4,884,000. Railroad buying on a considerable scale is looked for before the end of the year, according to the Iron Age.

BANKING INTERESTS BUY STOCKS.

Further accumulation of securities by banking interests is held to be a reason for continued stock market strength. Good buying by this element was reported again on Wall Street this morning. The banking set is certainly well informed as to how far readjustment has progressed and what constructive work has been planned in all lines. Any demand for stocks from this source is the best possible prosperity forecast. The big bull factors which has expanded market trading close to the two million share mark are the crop outlook, belief that railroads will be returned to private ownership, and expectation that the incoming Congress will help business in general.

Dividend Declarations

Standard Oil Co. of Nebraska declared regular semi-annual dividend of $10 a share, payable June 20 to stock of record May 20.

Dominion Steel Corp. declared quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent. on common, payable July 1 to stock of record June 5, and quarterly of 1¾ per cent. on preferred, payable July 1, to stock of record June 14. Previously the common had been paying quarterly dividends of 1½ per cent. on common and 1½ on preferred.

Barrett Co. declared regular quarterly dividend of $2 on common, payable July 1 to stock of record June 18 and regular quarterly of 1¾ per cent. on preferred, payable July 15 to stock of record June 30.

F. W. Woolworth Co. declared regular quarterly 1¾ per cent. preferred dividend, payable July 1 to stock of record June 10.

Packard Motor Co. declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. on the preferred stock, payable June 16.

VENTURA OIL ACTIVE IN BOSTON

Local Market Opened Firm, but Became Irregular During Morning

The Boston Market opened firm, but became irregular during the morning. In the second hour the majority of active issues had declined. The price movement was rather narrow and business was of less volume during the forenoon than yesterday. Ventura Oil obtained the most attention and showed a small gain most of the time.

Coppers were quiet and had a narrow range. Silver mining issues were rather weak, U. S. Smelting failing to retain an early advance and Nipissing not showing a gain. Food stocks were irregular. President Ames of the Booth Fisheries denies that a packing interest is seeking control of this company. Warren Brothers common was a strong issue. Helvetia declined a little.

There was no response by copper stocks to the improvement in the metal market, where both Lake and electrolytic have been put upon a 16-cent basis. The demand is chiefly for June and July deliveries and largely from wire mills. Brass manufacturers have not as yet been impelled to buy to any extent.

SUDDEN DROP IN THE BAR SILVER QUOTATION

Commercial bar silver was quoted by New York dealers yesterday at $1.12 to $1.15 an ounce, a decline at the former figure of nine cents from the highest price asked since the export ban was lifted. There was caution on account of the confusion in the silver market in London. Buyers and sellers would not buy or sell until they received the latest London prices by cable.

According to a statement by the American Mining Congress "Western silver camps are looking for a grand revival of the white metal," and it quotes a leading producer as saying: "The open market will bring silver to $1.10 plus before long, and then you will see many of the old camps come to life."

Oil Output in Texas

Production of oil in north central Texas last week showed a daily average increase of 9,000 barrels, compared with the previous week. This territory is has now a daily output of about 170,000 barrels.

Land Bank Applications

During April the Federal Land Bank of Springfield received 368 applications for loans aggregating $1,416,150. Since its organization the bank has loaned $7,494,995, New York obtaining $3,159,290 and Massachusetts $1,234,006.

COTTON OPENS STEADY, SPOT HOUSES BOUGHT

New York, May 15.—The cotton market opened steady with first prices 5 points lower to 4 points higher. Scattered selling was absorbed by spot houses. Early bearish influences were the poor cables, improved weather and a favorable forecast. Soon after the opening spot houses led in active buying, which ran prices up about 10 points over last night's close.

Opening prices were: May 28.55; July, 27.15; October, 25.40; December, 25.00; January, 24.70; March 24.48.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, May 15.—Corn opened unchanged to ½c lower. Oats were ⅛c to ¼c higher. Opening prices were: Corn—July, $1.61⅝ to $1.62; September, $1.54⅝ to $1.55. Oats—July, 66⅛c; September, 63⅞.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, May 15.—The sub-treasury gained $2,941,000 from the banks on Wednesday, making the cash net gain since Friday $4,694,000.

SECRET DANCE HALLS SPRING UP IN PARIS

Government Ban on Tango Leads to Clandestine Arrangements Being Made

Paris, May 15.—The dancing masters of Paris have launched out into a vehement denunciation of the government's continued ban on night dancing. With Paris on the eve of her first "season" since the war began there is still no prospect that the lid will be taken off with official approval.

But while the government is determined not to allow the city to return to her old-time careless gayety as long as the country is suffering from the aftermath of war, clandestine dance halls are growing in number weekly. The Union of Dancing Masters has given out the statement that this state of things was only to be expected when the authorities refused to permit balls in the hotels and salons of Paris.

In order to probe the extent of the scandal a French investigator made a night tour of Paris. "I was told to go to a certain Montmartre theatre after the show was over," he said "and ask for Eugene, the chasseur, who would direct me to a dancing hall run by 'the countess.' I found Eugene eager to help. 'Take this taxi,' he said, 'and for $12 the driver will take you to the Countess's and drive you away at 2 a. m.'

"We drove right across the city to a peaceful little street on the left bank of the Seine and found about twenty automobiles drawn up in the neighborhood of a small shop. I tapped several times on the door, but the only echo was the strains of a 'much mustard' that drifted out softly through the shutters.

"I knocked again and then a head peered round the half-open door. 'Full up,' I was told. 'We've already refused thirty people. Come back tomorrow at a later hour than this and hand me one of these numbered cards.'

"The door closed and I was left with the numbered slip and a promise of gayety the following night.

"The driver laughed. 'Oh, that often happens,' he said; 'but there are other places. Kiki at the —— Theatre will give us another address.'

"Kiki was another theatre chasseur. He drew $2 from me and handed me the address of what was styled a 'private mansion' at Neuilly and a card bearing in English an invitation to dance and tango there. We drove out to the fashionable suburb, and half an hour later $4 admitted me to a villa with a promise to partake of the forbidden fruit.

"In a very small hall, reeking with perfume, I found about twenty perspiring couples jammed on the floor trying to dance the tango. Three sleepy baldheaded old men formed the orchestra.

"The atmosphere was unbelievably foul. For $10 you could drink a wretched liquid labelled 'champagne.' Of true, care-free gayety there was no trace."

PERCIVAL KNIGHT, playwright as well as gifted actor to appear in "Among the Girls."

There is perhaps no other actor appearing on the English speaking stage who has devoted so much time to war work as has Percival Knight, one of the principal players appearing in Selwyn and company's new 1919 musical comedy production, "Among the Girls," which comes to Selwyn's Park Square Theatre next Monday evening.

From the very outset of the great struggle this brilliant comedian has labored unceasingly in the great human cause of the Allies.

Mr. Knight is, aside from his unusual thespic talents, a gifted author, having written several successful plays in addition to numerous vaudeville sketches.

His last appearance in Boston was made as one of a quartet of stars appearing in the great patriotic and propaganda play, "Getting Together," a play in which he had a hand as one of the authors. He is regarded as one of the leading comedians of the musical comedy stage.

His initial introduction to Bostonians was made in "The Arcadians," a piece in which he shared honors with Julia Sanderson, and which served, in material substance, to establish him as one of the bright lights of the stage.

He later appeared in chief support of Ina Claire in "The Quaker Girl." Much of the humor and lyrics of "The Better 'Ole" are due to his humorous talents.

American Window Glass Machine Co. declared a dividend of 7 per cent. on the common stock payable in fourth 4¼ per cent. Liberty Bonds on June 6 to holders of record May 23.

WILSON CABLES GOOD WISHES FOR DRIVE

A cable from President Wilson wishing the Salvation Army every success in its one-week campaign for funds, which opens next Monday, was received today at the headquarters in the basement of the National Shawmut Bank building.

The cable, addressed to Colonel Adam Gifford, who has charge of the Salvation Army in New England, read:

> I am very much interested to know that the Salvation Army is about to enter into a campaign for a sustaining fund. I feel that the Salvation Army needs no commendation from me. The love and gratitude it has elicited from the troops is sufficient evidence of the work it has done and I feel that I should not so much commend it as congratulate it.
>
> Cordially and sincerely yours,
> (Signed)
> WOODROW WILSON.

Meantime tremendous impetus has been given the campaign, a drive to raise $3,000,000 in New England, $400,000 of that amount in Boston, by the entrance into it of the automobile industry of the city. This means that there has been brought into the drive what is probably the most complete and efficient organization of workers in the city.

The industry, in its entirety, entered the campaign at the request of Brigadier-General Charles H. Cole, its support being pledged by John H. Johnson of the Buick Company of Boston, a director in the Boston Automobile Dealers' Association, of which John H. MacAlman is president.

Another development in the campaign was the acceptance by Colonel William A. Gaston of the chairmanship of the finance committee. Today the colonel will appoint his committee, and the names, when announced, are expected to include among them the most prominent and influential bankers and financiers of Boston.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN MAY 15, 1919, BOSTON.

North Dakota's Antidote for Bolshevism

"The Searchlight" is a publication for the promotion of honest legislation by Congress. It publishes an article by Congressman John M. Baer entitled "North Dakota's Antidote for Bolshevism."

What the people of North Dakota have done IS a mighty good antidote for Bolshevism, or for any other violent change in our body politic. Every intelligent American ought to read this article, because it tells a most extraordinary story of a most extraordinary episode in current American history. Nothing like the growth of this farmers' organization in the West has been known on the North American continent in this generation. It is spreading rapidly. The producers in the cities are joining hands with the producers on the land to correct the evils of our economic, social and political conditions. Congressman Baer tells what they have accomplished in one year.

Reader, you cannot afford to pass by with a mere casual glance this story of what has been done in North Dakota this year. If those who are shouting loudest against Bolshevism would follow the example of the farmers of North Dakota there would never be any fear of Bolshevism. The trouble is that those who are shouting the loudest against Bolshevism are like the thief who cries "Stop thief!" in order to turn public attention from what they are doing, which is really producing the conditions that alone can breed Bolshevism in America.

Congressman Baer says:

A genuine economic democracy, bringing industrial freedom to the hand and brain workers in the cities as well as the tillers of the soil, came in North Dakota when the State Legislature passed the industrial commission act—the parent bill of the Non-Partisan League program. It is a most comprehensive plan, the most important features of which provide for the establishment and operation of a State-owned terminal elevator, flour mill, packing plant and a Bank of North Dakota. The bill passed the House by an exact two-thirds vote of those present, the number required to declare it an emergency measure. The vote was 74 to 37. It also passed the Senate and has been signed by the Governor, Lynn J. Frazier.

The State bank is the financial keystone of this great industrial structure by which the people of North Dakota will bridge the chasm of economic extortion between the producer and consumer. It forever frees North Dakota from the domination of outside moneyed interests.

The bank is capitalized at $2,000,000. It will also be the depository for the State, county and municipal funds. These deposits aggregate over $30,000,000. It will also put more money in the financial institutions of the State by acting as a reserve for banks that now keep their reserve funds in the Twin Cities and other large cities outside of North Dakota.

Many other definite results will be accomplished in addition to financing the State industries. It will stabilize financial institutions of the State and add to their security. It will reduce interest rates. It will put more money into circulation through its guarantee of deposits, which will bring out large sums of money now hoarded. Over two million in deposits have been promised by sympathetic interests in other States. All deposits are guaranteed by the State of North Dakota.

It would be extremely difficult in a short space to go into the details of the league legislation. The one outstanding feature of all the laws is their simplicity. It will not require a dozen corporation lawyers to define or interpret according to their own interests what is meant by any section of the new legislation. All the State utilities will be conducted and managed by an industrial commission, the powers and duties of which are defined in a separate act.

The next important measure which was passed is an act declaring the purpose of the State of North Dakota to engage in the business of manufacturing and marketing grain and its products, and for establishing State-owned elevators and a State-owned flour mill. All this business will be done under the name of the North Dakota Mill and Elevator Association. The chief purpose of this legislation is to encourage and promote agriculture, making it more profitable for the farmer and at the same time to reduce the cost of living for the consumer by eliminating useless middlemen and by furnishing the finished product to him as directly as possible. For instance, on May 17, 1917, wheat flour sold in Fargo, N. D., for $17.60 a barrel at the same time that it sold in England for $8.20 a barrel. It cost $9.40 more in North Dakota, where, perhaps, the wheat was raised, than in England, 5,000 miles away. Later when the United States Food Administration took control, wheat sold for more, but flour was fixed at $10.60 per barrel—a saving of $7 for the consumer. I claim that the farmer will receive twice as much for his wheat as he did before the war and the consumer in Fargo will be able to get two barrels of flour with a dollar bill "to boot" for what he paid for one barrel of flour in May, 1917.

In addition to the robbing in flour, the farmers of North Dakota lose $55,000,000 annually through grading, dockage and the loss of fertility. We hope to retain in the State this great source of wealth.

In addition to the legislation dealing with marketing, the following important and beneficial bills were enacted into laws:

1. An act to provide for defraying the general expenses of the State government by imposing taxes on shares of stock, bond issues of corporations, organized or doing business in the State. The bill exempts improvements of farm lands and on city property to the extent of $3,500 valuation.
2. A law creating a Home Builders' Association, which will allow people in towns and cities to build on long-time credits at cost.
3. A bill passed to provide a State bounty of $25 for each month that the soldier spent in the service. Another soldier law allows the State of North Dakota to buy a farm for him that may cost $10,000 as soon as the soldier makes a payment of 20 per cent.
4. A new inheritance tax law, patterned after the Wisconsin law. The bill classifies incomes into two divisions—"earned" and "unearned"—and places a heavy tax on the unearned incomes.
5. A new freight rate law.
6. State Hail Insurance law.
7. Unification of educational activities and numerous others.

Many new labor laws were passed which are said by labor leaders to be the most progressive State legislation in the United States.

A definite turning point in the history of North Dakota—perhaps in the history of the United States—had been reached when the Legislature adjourned. Upon the success of the North Dakota Legislature depends the last hope for economic democracy in the United States. I sincerely believe it will be a success and will work to the mutual welfare and general prosperity of all the people.

Jackass Policy Bears Fruits

Much the Monroe Doctrine will care whether the present government in Mexico recognizes it or not.

But in withdrawing its representative from Paris in pique at his failure to win the slightest official recogntion, the present government in Mexico advertises the utter bankruptcy of its foreign policy.

None but a conceited ignoramus could imagine that in a world of intimate contacts a small, weak and lawless power like Mexico could set up a rule of spoliation for foreigners and of contempt for world opinion and thrive under it.

Above most powers, Mexico, after the ravages of recent revolutions, needs the helpful aid of foreigners, their good will, sympathy and advice.

Instead of which she has not a sincere friend on earth. Only a radical change in her attitude and behavior can forestall the ultimate administration of discipline upon her for wanton and persistent violation of foreign rights.

For the peace and good order of our hemisphere it is necessary that Mexicans be reformed.

—By K. C. B.—

DEAR K. C. B.—
I like your stuff; I read it every day.
That's why you ought to read this note
And digest what I say.

The chap who ordered strawberries
Was very much at fault,
But the time he told the waiter
Was the time to call a halt.

To click his teeth was awful—
But perhaps you got his goat
By sitting down to luncheon
In full dress evening coat.

AT THE Foot of This Column.
• • •
DEAR ARTIST.
• • •
WHOEVER IT was.
• • •
WHO WROTE the above.
• • •
AND MAILED it to me.
• • •
THE REASON he did it.
• • •
WAS THE way you dressed me.
• • •
• • •
WHEN I wrote the story.
• • •
ABOUT THE man.

WHOM I took to lunch.
• • •
AND WHO hit his spoon.
• • •
AGAINST HIS teeth.
• • •
WHEN HE ate strawberries.
• • •
AT MY expense.
• • •
AT A dollar a throw.
• • •
AND IF you'll take a few minutes.
• • •
AND LOOK in the files.
• • •
ON THE day in question.
• • •
YOU WILL see me.
• • •
SITTING AT a table.
• • •
AT NOON.
• • •
IN A first class cafe.
• • •
IN EVENING clothes.
• • •
• • •
I WANT to inform you.
• • •
THAT I never did that.
• • •
BUT ONCE in my life.
• • •
AND THAT was one time.
• • •
WHEN THE night before.
• • •
I'D BEEN to a banquet.
• • •
OF THE St. Andrew's Society.
• • •
IN A Canadian town.

IF AFTER this.
• • •
YOU WON'T be more careful.
• • •
IN CHOOSING the clothing.
• • •
YOU MAKE me wear.
• • •
AND IT ought to be easy.
• • •
JUST TAKING your pen.
• • •
AND DRAWING anything.
• • •
THAT YOU want to put on me.
• • •
AND IF you wanted.
• • •
YOU COULD fix it so.
• • •
THAT NEARLY every day.
• • •
I'D HAVE a new suit.
• • •
AND YOU ought to do that.
• • •
INSTEAD OF dressing me up.
• • •
SO PEOPLE will think.
• • •
I'VE BEEN out all night.
• • •
WHEN I haven't.
• • •
BECAUSE I'M married.
• • •
AND CAN'T get away.
• • •
OR ANYTHING.

I THANK you.

ROUTINE BUSINESS

Our "Nancy" aviators on the trans-Atlantic flight are cool customers. When the NC-1 arrived at Trepassey, N. F., Lieutenant-Commander Bellinger, in command of the seaplane, said the trip was "entirely uneventful." Most of us would think it quite some performance to skim along 2,000 feet above sea and land for 460 miles in less than seven hours without a stop.

OPEN SEASON ON TOOTHPICKS

A Summer street restaurant which conserved toothpicks in war time, passing one out only on request, has set the t-p bowl back on the counter, where one may play jackstraws with it at will. Some veteran grabbers can scoop up a dozen "picks" at one clutch with the left hand, while paying the cashier with the other hand.

To the Editor

A Contrast

Editor Boston American:

I am asking you, as the ever ready friend of the soldier, to publish this little article. Will some one kindly tell me why our Yankee doughboys who fought and won the great war on the munificent sum of $30 a month, more or less, should be jobless and needy now, while the hundreds of yeogirls in the Navy Yard who have so patriotically (?) done their bit by earning from $25 to $35 a week since the war started, should be living in apparent luxury? Is this justice to the Yankee Division boys?

Why not give the boys a chance in the Navy Yard?

DOUGHBOY'S SISTER.

Matrimony has demonstrated that the girl who is shaped like a fashion magazine picture may have a disposition like a truck horse.

SHOULD MRS. CASTLE HAVE WAITED LONGER?

Or Does Her Marriage After Barely a Year Pay the Highest Compliment to Her Dead Hero Husband?

THE question is asked, "Should Mrs. Vernon Castle have married so soon?" or rather, "Would she have married so soon if she had loved her late hero-husband as deeply as she professed?"

It has been argued that the greatest tribute a widow can pay her husband's memory is to promptly take another husband. A woman whose matrimonial experience has been wretched may well refuse to risk another unhappy marriage. But a widow's ready acceptance of a second partner would be an evidence of her faith in matrimony as the fruit of her first happy experience.

In letters quoted in a full page discussion of this so complex problem in next Sunday's Boston Advertiser-American the public will have a chance to judge.

There can be no doubt that if a happy first marriage induces a widow to marry a second time Irene Castle had every reason to become Mrs. Treman! And Treman, who, by the way, bears a remarkable resemblance in face and figure to Castle, seems to feel confident that he will be more the lover, even, than his predecessor.

There is another romance with a flavor of the war which has had a most interesting denouement. It is a story of an American girl who married a plain, modest French soldier and then found out for herself that he was a nobleman of ancient lineage and great possessions.

A whole page is devoted to the story and interesting pictures in next Sunday's Boston Advertiser-American.

"And now the fatal chapter in the restless, unhappy career of Jacques Lebaudy—a career dramatic and extraordinary and brought to a tragic end by pistol bullets of his own wife." So begins the two-page article on the Lebaudy case.

The Boston Sunday Advertiser-American will, of course, have all its usual exclusive features—and the demand for papers is so great that the old advice to "order your copy in advance" should be accentuated here once more.

YOUR ACQUAINTANCES AND YOUR SECRETS

Beware of the person who comes to you in trouble and says: "Now tell me everything; you will feel better if you do. I know when I am unhappy I always want to go to a trusted friend and talk freely."

There are a lot of young couples starting out just now who need this valuable lesson on avoiding the person who seeks to know the problems of their home life.

That apparent tender feeling of sympathy and solicitude is nothing more or less than curiosity about the matters of your household.

Your real friend never pries around and asks confidences.

Your real friend may listen when you volunteer information and from a sincere heart may offer sympathy or make helpful suggestions, but never does that true friend try to worm a way into your heart of heart affairs.

It is the hypocrite who is overzealous, and if you are a good reader of human nature you should be able to discern the true from the false.

If you are not discerning, confide in no one, when it comes to matters which concern your family, but depend upon frankness with those immediately concerned to keep things right.

Foreign Women and the Liberty Loans

Foremost among the women of foreign extraction who have worked for the sale of government bonds are the Lithuanian women. One million people from the oppressed little Baltic State that is asking America to recognize its independence have labored to send their countrymen over the top in each loan. In the last issue these women were the most successful of any foreign women in selling bonds. In a single day they disposed of $58,150 worth of bonds among their countrymen in Pittsburgh.

COURAGE AIDS GIRLS IN ROUGH PLACES

By Winifred Black

A THIRTEEN-YEAR-OLD girl went up to her room in a hotel the other day and found a thief going through her bureau drawers.

Did she scream and faint in the good old-fashioned way?

She did not. She said:

"What are you doing here?"

And when the man started toward her, she told him that if he touched her she'd scream at the top of her voice.

"Put those things down!" said Miss Thirteen-year-old to the burglar, "and leave this room at once!"

The burglar started to obey when the girl's father came along the hall and met him just in the very nick of time.

On the same day, a little farther along toward nightfall, in the same city, a young woman was hurrying home from downtown.

Just as she neared her own gate, a man stepped out from behind a tree and demanded her purse.

Did this young woman scream and faint? Did she even give up the purse?

She did not.

She struck the man in the face, and he was so dazed and surprised that he didn't move until she was well within the gate and safe on her own father's porch.

A man spoke to a girl on the train the other day, and the girl turned and said:

"Speak to me again and I'll call the conductor and have you arrested."

I know she did, because I sat right behind her and heard every word she said.

The man got up and left the car.

"Weren't you frightened?" I said to the girl.

Fear a Terrible Thing

"Frightened!" said the girl—she looked at me in astonishment. "Why, what in the world was there to frighten me? I was right here in a whole car full of people, and besides I could manage a little dried up specimen like that myself, with one hand tied behind me!"

"Are you never afraid?" a sweet old lady asked a successful young business woman the other day, as we three sat having a friendly cup of tea together.

"Afraid?" said the successful young business woman. "I don't believe I quite understand. Just how do you mean, or where, or why?"

"Oh," said the sweet old lady, vaguely, "why—a—I mean men, don't you know, and strangers, and new hotels and catching trains and getting into taxicabs. What if you got the wrong one or were lost or something?"

"Lost?" repeated the successful young business woman. "I'm lost a hundred times a day in every new town I see, but I always find my way again. It's perfectly easy to ask and nobody objects to telling."

The sweet old lady sighed and shook her head.

"I'm afraid I shall never understand you modern girls," she said, and then we all laughed and changed the subject.

What a terrible world it must be to live in when you're afraid of strangers and afraid of the dark, and afraid of missing your train, and afraid of losing your way, and afraid to stop and ask, and afraid to go on and hunt for yourself, and afraid that some one will think that you think that they think something or other about nothing of the least importance.

Here's to the New!

What a nuisance it must be to go through life gasping and looking over your shoulder.

Why should you imagine that everybody you don't know is a fiend in human form—just because you don't happen to know them?

Why, that's half the fun of life, the strangeness of it!

I couldn't live a day if I had to look at the same things and the same people and read the same news in the same newspapers day in and day out. I'd buy a pink edition instead of a white one and turn to the left instead of the right, just to get a wee bit of change, and to keep myself from growing into a little, rusty ticking machine that wasn't of the least importance to anybody on earth but myself.

Here's to the unaccustomed point of view!

And here also is to the new girl who isn't afraid of anything or anybody under the sun so long as she keeps her wits about her.
